

Contents

Preface by Edward Whitmont, M.D.	xi
Introduction	xv
Phosphorus.	1
Sensitivity.	2
Sparkle and Self-Love.	6
The Eternal Child.	10
The Performer.	17
Intellect and Understanding	21
Love Life.	27
The "Shadow" Side.	29
Confusion of Identity.	32
Calcareo Carbonica.	39
The Oyster.	39
The Shell.	48
The Child.	58
The Pearl.	69
Lycopodium.	79
The Divergent Type.	80
Self-Esteem	82
Viability.	89
Detachment.	98
Self-Deception.	110
The Patient	116

Sepia	125
The Overworked Housewife	125
The Career Woman	131
The Complainer	138
The Male	147
The Child	149
Sulphur	151
Versatility	151
Selfishness, Materialism, Generosity	154
The Heated and Eruptive Personality	163
Intellectualism and Creativity	178
Pseudo- and Anti-Intellectualism	191
Old Age and Melancholy	194
Pulsatilla	199
Sweetness	200
Dependence	204
Companionability	211
Flexibility	216
Emotionalism	223
Arsenicum Album	235
Anxiety	236
Fastidiousness	247
The Driven Individual	251
Perfectionism	256
Sensitivity to the Environment	266
"All or Nothing"	270
Selfishness	274
The Commanding General	277
Intellect and Pride	284
The Parent—The Power Behind the Throne	288
The Well-Balanced Type	291
Appendix	294

Lachesis	301
Dualism	302
Sleep and Temperature	305
Alcohol and Food	307
Discharges	308
Loquacity	310
Sexuality	315
Religion and Beliefs	317
The Child	324
Relationships and Love	327
Power	337
Vitality	341
Impersonality and Humor	343
Satrum Muriaticum	349
Retention	349
Childhood and Family Relations	351
Bleakness	356
Loneliness and Isolation	362
Hope and Laughter	369
Stoicism	373
High-mindedness	380
Antimaterialism and Unconventionality	384
Reliability and Unpredictability	390
Uneasy Relationships	396
The Reformer	398
Don Quixote	407
Bibliography of works cited	413
Remedies mentioned in the text and their common names	415
Index	417