Dr. Rajan Sankaran is a world-renowned homoeopath who has practiced and taught homoeopathy internationally for more than three decades. He began with a firm footing in traditional homoeopathy and introduced groundbreaking concepts such as delusion, kingdom, sensation, and levels. This has been an evolutionary process, described through his various publications spanning The Spirit of Homoeopathy to The Synergy in Homoeopathy.

During this progression, Sankaran discovered that the secret to success lies in an integration of the original concepts of homoeopathy - materia medica, repertory, and case-taking - with contemporary approaches. To excel in this, one needs a strong foundation in conventional homoeopathy, as well as a clear understanding of contemporary approaches.

There was a call for a textbook to take the reader through the entire evolution, as well as demonstrate step by step how various concepts are integrated in practice.

That textbook is here and now in your hands. From Similia to Synergy guides the reader through the full spectrum of homoeopathic knowledge. Sankaran demonstrates integration with actual case studies. Case-taking discourses have been transcribed and parsed to allow the reader to understand Sankaran’s thought processes. Throughout, the reader is encouraged to refer to supporting bodies of work for further research and comprehension.

This is a book that will help you produce solid and definite successful results in practice.

“I am in deep appreciation of this work, which systematically elaborates the entire evolution and developments in homoeopathy.”

From the foreword by Dr. Jayesh Shah, MD (Hom)
Table of Contents

Dedication 6
INTRODUCTION 7
Generations In Homœopathic Practice 9 INVENTION 9
INTENSIFICATION 10
INNOVATION 12
INTEGRATION 14
DEVELOPMENT 16
The Law of Similars: Hahnemann’s Experiment 18
The Remedy Produces a State of Being 18
Concept of Dynamization 19
Potentized Remedies Have Dynamic Effect Only 19
Holistic 20
Individualistic 20
Hologram - Microcosm and Macrocosm 21
Homeœopathy Versus Modern Medicine 21
Dr. Prakash Vakil 22
Boenninghausen’s Idea of Generalization 23
Boger’s Contribution 23
Phatak: Generalization of the Modalities and Sensations 23
Importance of Detailed Inquiry - Finding the Uncommon 25
Rubrics Become Meaningful When We Understand the Kingdom 37
Dr. Sarabhai Kapadia 38
Dr. Koppikar 40
Dr. Amar Nikam 41
Basic Homeœopathy 41
Interpretation of the Expression Into the Rubric Form 41
Dr. B. N. Chakraborty 44
Provings 53
Group Consciousness 57
Experiments with Colours and Numbers 57
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr> </thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Similia</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Provings Touch the Vital Force</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Case-Taking</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Knowing the Facts</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exploration of States</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evaluation of the Case</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The PNEI Axis</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What is a Sensation?</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What is a Miasm?</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Sensation and Miasm Represent the ‘What’ and ‘How’ of a Phenomenon</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What is a Level?</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>INTEGRATION</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Remedy - Spirit of Source From Which It Comes</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grouping – Kingdoms and Miasms</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patterns in the Three Kingdoms</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minerals – Structure</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animals - Survival</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plants - Sensitivity And Reactivity</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Application Of The Kingdom Classification</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One Rubric - Three Experiences According To The Kingdom</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Row 3 Represents Stages Of Development In A Child</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Remedies As Part Of A Group</td>
<td>83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Row 4 Represents Money Matters</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Pattern Emerges</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Understanding the Essence Through Proving</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Row 5 Represents Self-Expression</td>
<td>87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Row 6 Represents Responsibility</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patterns Within The Plant Kingdom</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Animal Kingdom: Sub-Kingdom - Classes</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Experience In Every Case: Sensitivity, Structure, Survival</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seven Levels of Experience</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blank Level – 7th Level</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Materia Medica Pura - Dr.Samuel Hahnemann</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summarizing The Miasm Classification</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Deeper understanding of well-known remedies: 110 Sensation Approach as an Addition and not a Replacement 113
Which Approach To Follow? 116

The Value of the Repertory 122
My Familiarity With The Repertory 123
Repertory As An Index Of Symptoms 123

Advantages Of Repertory 123
Use Of Different Repertories 125
A Few Gems From The Repertory 126
Some Other Confirmatory Rubrics And Symptoms 127

Chapters of Delusions and Dreams 128
Introduction To Boger-Boenninghausen’s Approach 132

The Doctrine Of Analogy 132
The Doctrine Of Concomitant 132
Experiences With Dr. Bhanu Desai 132
Experiences With Dr. S.R. Phatak 133
Some Other Unique Advantages Of Phatak’s Repertory 134
Dr. Pierre Schmidt 140

Well-proven remedies are highly represented. 146
Modern Provings 147
How I Use the Repertory 147

Issues of the Third Row 148
Reach the Centre of the Case 149
Not All Patients Go To The Sensation 149
Many Confirmatory Symptoms are From the Repertory 150
Stool 153
Cough 154
Cravings 156
Dreams 157
Vertigo 159
Menses 159
Restlessness 160
Inventive Uses of Mind Rubrics 163
Music 167
Similia

Integration of The New and The Old Methods 169
Repertory Exercise 175

MATERIA MEDICA 176

How to study a remedy 178
Source 178
Materia Medica – the PQRS symptoms with LSM 178
Kingdom 178
Miasm 178
Complementary and similar remedies 178
Repertorial rubrics 178
Cases from practice 178

SILICEA 178
Source 178
Silicea from Materia Medica: 179
Confirmatory symptoms: Silicea 180
A Study of Silicea Through The Kingdom 181
What Is The Miasm of Silicea? 183
Comparing Silicea with other remedies 183
Silicea compared with other Sycotic remedies 184
Clinical observations 184
Some important rubrics 185
Other rubrics of Silicea 185
Some important points about Silicea 185
My imagination of Silicea 185

PULSATILLA 187
Pulsatilla from Materia Medica 187
Constitutional picture: 187
Mental picture: 187
Important generals: 188
Important female particulars: 188
A Study of Pulsatilla Through The Kingdom 188
What is the Miasm of Pulsatilla? 188
Correlation of characteristic symptoms with the Kingdom and Miasm 189
Confirmatory features and symptoms of Pulsatilla: 189 Trembling from anger, changes in the body from anger 189
Comparison of Pulsatilla with other remedies 191

LACHESIS

Some information about the source 193
Lachesis in Materia Medica 193
The classic characteristic symptoms of Lachesis 193 Important Modalities of Lachesis 193 Mind and Behaviour 194
The Miasm of Lachesis 194
Mental rubrics of Lachesis: 194
The Kingdom understanding of Lachesis 194
Some General Qualities of Reptiles 195
Classification of Lachesis muta 197
Common Reptilian and snake features and correlation with symptoms and rubrics of Lachesis: 197
Common Viperidae and Crotalinae features: 200
Rubrics of Lachesis that correlate with Crotalinae - Viperidae features 201
Effects of the Bushmaster venom: Strange and beautiful imaginations 203
My imagination of Lachesis 203
A few specific indications of Lachesis 204

Conclusion 206

DISCUSSION SESSION

Conclusion: 209

MIASMS

Miasm - A Way to Classify Disease and Remedies 235
The Search For a Common Pattern in Antisyphilitic Remedies 237
Hopeless Despair Leading to Destructiveness 237

Miasm - Etiology and Specific Pattern of Disease 238
The Search For a Common Pattern in Sycotic Remedies 238
Over-reaction, anticipation, and caution 238
Are There Only Three miasms? 238 Presence of More Than Three Patterns 238
Hectic pace – The Tubercular Pattern 238
Chaos and Control – The Cancer Pattern 239
The Sub-Acute Miasm: Typhoid 239
Hahnemann’s Idea of Miasm versus Clinical 239
The Ten Miasms

- Acute: Panic 239
- Sudden Pace: Comes and Goes 240
- Features of the Acute Miasm Often Resemble Childhood 240
- Examples of the Acute Miasm 240
- PSORA: Hope 243
- Struggle, Effort, Hope 244
- TYPHOID: Crisis situation 248
- Difference between the Acute and Typhoid Miasm: 249
- MALARIA: Harassed 252
- Feeling of being stuck and periodically harassed 252
- The disease Mirrors pace and depth 252
- Remedies from the Malarial Miasm 253
- RINGWORM: Doubtful 262
- Alternating states of effort and failure with acceptance 262
- SYCOSIS: Fixed 266
- Accept and Avoid 266
- Anticipate 266
- Other Remedies of the Sycotic Miasm 267
- Rubrics representing the anticipation, fixed ideas, avoidance, and cover up of Sycosis: 268
- TUBERCULAR: Claustrophobic 269
- Tubercular: Between the Sycotic and Syphilitic Miasms 269
- Difference Between Typhoid and Tubercular Miasms 269
- Emphasis on Pace and Desperation, Not Sensation 269
- Intense Restlessness 270
- CANCER: Chaos 273
- Desperate to be in Control in a Chaotic Situation 273
- Chaos and Disorder in Every Cell 273
- A Case Example 273
- Other Remedies of the Cancer Miasm 274
- LEPROUS: Isolation 279
- Feeling ‘Tortured’ 279
Persecution: A Continuous Process 279
Leprous Miasm Sounds Like the Animal Kingdom 280
SYPHILITIC: Impossible 284
Impossible, Hopeless and Destructive 285
Homicidal and Suicidal Tendencies 285
Destructive Pathologies 285
Syphilitic Remedies 285

SYNERGY 293
Introduction 294

Synergy 296

The Triangle of Symptoms, System, and Genius 296
Case of Reactive Polyarthritis 297
Case of Rheumatoid Arthritis and Migraine 299
A Case of Idiopathic Thrombocytopenia 301 Symptoms and System 308
Fixity and flexibility 309
Some reflections on flexibility 310
Entry Point 311
Generalization 312
Anchor 314
Hot Spot 315
Peripheral Vision 316

LEVELS AND BIASES IN ‘MIND’ 317
Genius 318
Three Parallel and Intertwining Lines 320

Appendix I 322
An Insight into Dr. Phatak’s approach 322

Appendix II 333
Miasms 333

Appendix III 344
Miasms - an Overview 344
Index 345
Dedicated
With Love and Gratitude To

David Kent Warkentin

Who built the space crafts Mac Repertory and Reference Works to launch Homœopathy to the next level
My first and the foremost message to all students of homoeopathy is to acquire sustained trust in the system. I can attribute success of all great homoeopaths to the basic faith and passion with which they practiced homoeopathy. This faith comes from experience of seeing, reading and creating cures of difficult ailments, sometimes almost magical. Today it is very necessary for students to follow, study and learn from all masters of homoeopathy, old and contemporary. I can easily attribute my success to the basic faith that I had in homoeopathy because I had seen so many cases healed with homoeopathy, that my father was a homoeopath. Also the collaborative study with Dr Rajan Sankaran, Dr Sujit Chatterjee and all the others in the Bombay school helped my trust to continually boast my confidence. So many teachers of homeopathy have time and again enforced the potency of the ‘trust-homoeopathy’ with in myself. It is this fundamental trust that homoeopathy works. This becomes like an operating system charged with excitement in healing with homoeopathy. This is the difference in the basic temperament, between a master of the system and an average practitioner of this system.

How does one acquire this trust and confidence?

This comes from learning the system thoroughly and seeing its successful application in different situations and in different approaches, by experts of the different schools of classical homoeopathy. As many cases, one sees, cures or reads can only boost the knowledge and conviction in homoeopathy. Every student and every teacher is evolving each day. This is what makes the system of homoeopathy so dynamic that every sincere practitioner of this system will have so much to contribute to homoeopathic learning. One who can learn from such an evolution has to get infected with this unshakable faith and confidence in homoeopathy. This faith leads to confidence and creates the momentum for systematic, productive and practical learning.

I remember my earliest days of practice when I was a young physician just 23 years of age charged with a lots of enthusiasm to cure with homoeopathy. One of my earliest cases, was a child aged one year and half; Came to me with multiple blisters, like as if from burns, big vesicles. It was all over the body. The faith in homoeopathy made me take pictures of the lesions to report a cured case! The child fitted perfectly into the description of the skin symptoms as in the remedy Mancinella from the Phatak’s materia medica : “Vesicles. Large blisters as from scalds. Brown crusts and scabs. Pemphigus. Dermatitis; with extensive vesiculation, oozing of sticky serum and formation of crusts.” Every word written there was resonating with what I was seeing! For this young homoeopath it was like a book picture present itself. However the remedy though indicated was not effective and the eruptions increased. The trust and enthusiasm was so innate that the mind immediately is into reevaluation of the situation. This is what you will learn from reading and seeing work of great homoeopaths like George Vithoulkas, Dr S R Phatak, Dr P. Sankaran, Dr M L Dhowle or Dr Sarabhai Kapadia who were the main teachers in my years of growing into homoeopathy. Re-visitng the case and looking for further indications, I discovered symptoms ‘salivation during the sleep’; ‘craving for the bread and butter’; markedly open fontanelle. Using the Kent’s repertory the remedy emerged by eliminating these rubrics was Mercury. So I gave that child Merc-Sol 200c one dose. Within two days one could not locate where that blisters were! The eruptions that were aggressively progressing and labeled as pamphigius by the skin consultant just vanished in two days. I still possess the pictures of this infant who is now 30 years of age and a healthy adult! So what I saw as mencinella was mercury. The art of homoeopathy lies in creating the similarity. The next most interesting experience that I remember is a case again of a female child one and half years of age. She was coughing violent and was running high fever. Some how the remedy Pulsatilla given on the symptoms of being carried and being a mild and gentle child who was thirstless and a hot patient did not help. In three days the voice was lost and there was a deep hoarseness. Even though Puls was chosen on the general symptoms proved to be ineffective. The desire to be carried increased to a great degree. The child just would not want to be put down. Cough sounded so hoarse. She had glands in the anterior cervical region. My study of the symptoms through the Kent’s repertory led me to the rubric in mind section Carried desires to be, sub rubric, croup in. The remedy was bromine. With the cervical glands inflamed I got convinced of bromine and the health was speedily restored in two or three days.

One can see how the use of repertory and then the materia-medica to confirm the other aspects got me to a more effective remedy. Remedy that covers the most spontaneous, clear and intense symptoms is always likely to work (George Vithoulkas). Also the remedy that is covering the most peculiar aspect is likely to work. The important general peculiarities and pathological peculiarity also helps one to match the pace of the disease with the remedy in order to establish the similarity. I always use this yard-stick of intensity, spontaneity and clarity to decide if I am on the right track. This applies to any methodology that I use to solve a case.

In the initial practice these seemingly, unrelated peculiarities of the case when repertorized brought me good results. As if an unprejudiced picture emerges and then something reasonate in the materia-medica and your experience. Yeah, I got it. And once you get that feeling ‘that I got it’; then many other symptoms happily fall into place. Slowly over a period of time your knowledge of the materia-medica and the acquaintance with repertory increases. This is fundamental to the practice and evolution of a homoeopath.

Section 2:

The desire to explore and seeing through the patches of darkness is obvious, when you work with a medical-system based on freedom from prejudice and individualization. Often one discovers newer symptoms, patterns and ways of understanding and carving the portrait of the disease as the master Hahnemann described it.
There were so many mental symptoms that did not connect. Dr Rajan Sankaran along with his colleagues looked for a theme that would explain the seemingly unrelated mental symptoms. It was his genius stroke of idea that came from the chapter of delusions in the repertory! I clearly remember a case of chronic indigestion not responding to the selected remedies then. Here the client expressed tremendous guilt that he spoilt his health by eating at a bad restaurant and hence he suffers since then. He was very anxious that he has an incurable disease. He was very conscientious person. He was very anxious that his burping habit would expose his sickness to his colleagues during business meetings. This man was very cautious about eating well and was very particular about legal matters in the office. He was markedly hypochondriac in his moods.

Rubrics like delusion, ruined his health; delusion that he has an incurable disease were the rubrics taken from the kent’s repertory. This helped to understand his obsession with disease and his cautious nature. The prescription of Chelidonium 200c instantly relieved him of the entire distress. I could see that he did not worry so much about eating at the restaurants after the remedy. Here I could understand many of his mental traits by understanding the feelings that were behind the traits like fastidious conscientious hypochondriac etc. The idea of delusions and the chapter of delusions in the repertory became really alive after this clinical application was discovered. Dr Rajan Sankaran has played a major role in the process of bringing this chapter of delusion to its utmost use. Today it is impossible to not use the chapter on delusions. In the beginning of our practice this chapter appeared to be full of symptoms of insanity! This was also the birth of his first book the spirit of homoeopathy. I rate this as the most exciting period in homoeopathy for me ever!

So many mind symptoms got understood when one goes into the feeling state that is behind the compulsive doing symptoms in a case. For example a person can be fastidious because of many deeper feelings behind this compulsion! He is afraid of falling sick; he is afraid people are observing him; he thinks he will loose his things; he thinks there are thieves around; he will be reprimanded; he will appear ugly etc. This was one big step in understanding the mind state of a person. Some of the readers will not understand the excitement of this discovery. How mental symptoms made a different meaning all of a sudden and became more comprehensible. In one stroke the method of case taking and perceiving reached the new dimension of feelings. Like delusion people are observing him became more basic to fastidious for example. Natural extension of these ideas led to the use of dreams into the fold.

Dr Jurgen Becker of Freiburg Germany along with his colleagues worked a lot with dreams and fairy tales as means to understand the mental state. This is where the idea of dreams and delusions got integrated into classical homoeopathy. I am sure many of us will have files full of cases that were integration of the dreams and delusions that helped in successful prescriptions. The use and importance of physical and pathological generals markedly diminished during this period of my evolution. Over excitement with the ideas of delusions and dreams might have caused some of our prescriptions to go prejudiced or in totally wrong direction. This does not take the credit of solving and understanding so many cases that we could not have dreamt of before this discovery. Even today it is so much integrated into the system and the technique that everyone I know uses it in someway or the other. Also the methodology and emphasis in the newer drug proving records have evolved over a period of time. The contemporary method of case taking has been markedly influenced by this development in homoeopathy.

One more parallel step in the development or evolution was the first attempt to create the system of the periodic table by Jan Scholten. This is still the most controversial proposition for many homoeopaths. For any system to be successful one needs to understand the basic thought process of the developer of the system. The step of the system of periodic table as if took away the necessity for any detailed symptom approach in homoeopathy. This was exactly the opposite of the location, sensation, modality and concomitant approach in homoeopathy. As I understand there can be good that can emerge from this development and also there is a potential for the students and practitioners to get carried away into some imaginary and prejudiced way of perceiving the case. Looking at this development and the use of it in my practice, I can surely say it makes complete sense when it integrates and adds to the basic methodology in homoeopathy. I can give this example of a case where the woman felt completely dependent and in need. She suffered from asthma and panic attacks. Detailed case taking and understanding her problems revealed her helplessness. She was in a constant fear of loosing her food clothing and shelter, as if she had no resources to generate this structure for herself. Her moods and depressions revolved around the memories of her childhood when she was abandoned in the orphanage and that she possessed only two pairs of clothes and was given little and forced to eat the food she disliked immensely. After receiving many unsuccessful prescriptions from very accomplished homoeopaths she was prescribed Lithium carb as one of my live case in the seminar. This was almost the first time I was working with the ideas of the periodic table. This prescription brought almost an instant relief in her asthma and also her emphysematous condition! Her moods and confidence improved greatly. I still cannot imagine coming to this remedy by the symptoms alone. Although the aspects of helplessness and aloneness are well described in some of our materia medicas. Newer drug pictures based on the system of periodic table started getting more clinical confirmations from colleagues especially in Holland and other European countries. Dr Rajan Sankaran revised some of the ideas to fit into his system as it was evolving into the sensation approach in homoeopathy. Dr Andreas Holling from Munster in Germany also holds some interesting ideas on how he utilizes the periodic system. I can easily quote some great cases solved by understanding and use of the periodic system that may be difficult to solve with symptom approach alone. However I also know of cases where I drifted far away from the essence of the case when I was prejudiced and forced the case and analysis to fit into a slot on the table! This is the main concern in the use of exclusive application of such a system without proper evaluation and critical filters that a homoeopath must develop. Everything depends on a holistic and mature integration of basics with any modern propositions in homoeopathy. One has to be very careful and make a thorough study of the system before using the ideas loosely and inaccurately. The choice of an appropriate approach in a given case is a biggest challenge for a contemporary student and even a experienced practitioner in our times. Taking every case to the same place and then classifying it in the same frame-work does not work for me. Every case will have a different aspects that stand out as spontaneous, intense and clear. The frame-work I choose is the one that appropriately fits the case that has been elicited without prejudice. The case that is best elicited with the skills available at a given point of time, in our evolution. Often for me, the patient clearly leads me to the approach necessary in a given case. Every case presents differently and every methodology can be integrated if critical filters are in place. Failures and mistakes do happen with every human practitioner. One can only grow and learn from it and not make them into a habit! One thing that helps is meeting and discussing cases with colleagues. Their appreciation and criticism have been in the center of my progress in homoeopathy. This allows the so-called critical filters to develop.

Next significant development was the idea of plant families. The attempt by Dr Rupal Desai for me was the first move in that direction. The most significant step was the case of Dr Rajan and the symptom of ‘forced out’ in the Lilium tigrinum. It was like a new ray of light into my practice of homoeopathy. This symptom of forced out is neither physical or mental symptom. It came across as something that runs through the mind and the body. So it was defined as vital sensation. The sensation is that phenomenon which runs through the body into the mind Or vice versa. This way the physical aspects of the case that were somehow neglected started to come alive. Here so many plant families and their classifications into miasms allowed use of many plants that would not so easily be used otherwise. This was the birth of the sensation approach in homoeopathy. The essence of the approach is to find that central thread, that experience, which runs in the mind, body and the spirit. This also brought into use the hand gestures as representative of the energy pattern that is beyond words, beyond the mind and the body. For me this step took my level of case receiving into strange non-ordinary dimensions. We are able to for the first time reach and prescribe remedies that would be very difficult to imagine even by the delusion and the mineral classification system. For example a case of Ulcerative Collitis bleeding profusely with profound weakness not responding to steroids and other treatment responded immediately to Aloes Soc 1m, single dose. The lady experienced severe pain in the abdomen which made her pull her hair. Pulling or holding tight her hair was the prominent gesture. Investigation of the gesture took me to the feeling that she can control her painful urge for stools which is going to discharge profuse blood only by holding tight, in this case her hair. The opposite was forced out. This was experienced in a leprous way. She had issues with her in-laws that made her feel the same forced out feeling in violent and ugly way. She also expressed desire to throw her husband out of the window with the same hand gesture that described her stools being forced out. To withhold and to be forced out were the polarities. The dreams integrated with intense disgust for snakes, that was experienced as shit or excrements soiling her. Hence the prescription of Aloes that is in the Liliaceae family in the leprous miasm. For me this step was significant as patients delved deep into a non-ordinary reality and resonated with something similar in nature or in a story that resonated similar to the vital sensation of the case. Also for me the idea of polarities holds a lot of food for research and clinical applications. One major pitfall of this method is forcing the case to an unknown remedy or even a unproven substance. Often such remedies were prescribed that have no proving.

The idea of miasms and the idea of the sensation allowed us to prescribe far beyond the materia-medica and the repertory. There were colleagues who were asking and thinking if the repertory and the materia-medica are essential!

I can surely testify curing a most difficult case of Ankylosing spondylitis with Tiger’s blood! No one could have the imagination or courage to do this 10 years ago. I say this with confidence, as this case in particular has not relapsed for 4 years since the first and the only dose of this remedy. The polarities were restricted and chained versus free wild violent and open. The other characteristics of the animal kingdom and mammals being in the background to prescribe this remedy. This brought the ideas of the kingdoms-patterns running through the plants, minerals and animals. One major disaster of this approach was misuse of the images that a person gives, without really understanding the experience at the deepest levels. Also when the case approach is sensation-centric, it will miss out on some very obvious symptoms in the case. There are great cases solved by this method and also there are horrible examples of misuse of this method in prescribing. This method also brought the idea of levels as a guide to know if your prescription is only fitting the image or it is fitting into the deepest experience of the person.

I firmly believe that no one approach is full proof. Every approach when discovered and practiced over a period of time brought its virtues and pitfalls to the surface.

Dr Rajan has brought forward this idea of Synergy that will help homoeopaths to integrate and apply the most fundamental guidelines in classical homoeopathy with the sensation approach or the level of experience. This idea is a subject to debate in this moment amongst my esteemed colleagues especially in Europe. Colleagues who have developed deeper and sounder techniques of case processing with the sensation approach find very good results. On the whole the patients or the clients are often a part of this process and are very happy with this approach in homoeopathy. Particularly in Europe this method has renewed the interest in classical homoeopathy. It could be seen in the ‘WISH CONGRESS’ in Freiburg last year where over 500 participants attended the congress. (WISH: World Institute for Sensation Homoeopathy) The cases presented at this congress were of very high standard and the cures were brilliant. There was so much learning and appreciation from all the teachers and the participants. The fear amongst the group was to dilute the process of deep understanding that the sensation approach creates.
There needs to be some integration, for the old and the new to grow to gather. For me everything that I have learnt from the day one till my recent experiences with meditative way of case taking are all integrating. The most fundamental is the life force which will forever resonate with the similar. The art and science of creating this resonance is the key to success with homoeopathy.

I am in deep appreciation of this work where the entire evolution and developments in homoeopathy have been systematically elaborated for the students to get deepest insights into all stages of homoeopathic thought process. I end with this prayer for emergence of the “homoeopathic wisdom or the homoeopathic common sense.” May it bring wholeness and flexibility that will take homoeopathy to its highest potential in restoring the sick to health.

Dr Jayesh Shah MD (Hom)
Mumbai India.
INTRODUCTION

The last three decades as a practitioner and teacher have been eventful years. I have seen homœopathy evolve to heights not imagined before; however, developments are a double-edged sword. On one hand, we see many improved results in practice; on the other hand, they have caused a schism in the profession between traditionalists - who viewed these new ideas with much skepticism and spoke fiercely against them - and ‘post-modern’ homœopaths, who embraced the ideas with such enthusiasm that they ignored the solid fundamentals of Classical homœopathy. Both these extreme positions have helped neither the practitioners nor the profession.

The basis of the split is to view remedies either traditionally as individual entities, or as within the framework of a group. In my practice, I see no division between the old and the new; rather, they are two sides of the same coin, like seeing the same thing from two different angles. If you consider an object — let’s say a banana — it can be seen as an individual entity and described by its various features of color, shape, consistency, taste, origin, etc., or it can be seen as a fruit and traced by its common characteristics with other fruits. Just as you can understand all fruits through a banana, you can understand a banana better by understanding the features of all fruits in general. In the same way, knowledge of a remedy and a system feed each other, support each other, and are indivisibly integrated with each other. Understanding and practicing homœopathy with this insight has been my personal secret of success, as well as that of many of my colleagues.

I want to share this with the profession, to address interested practitioners from both sides of the divide and those in the middle, to discuss the reality of everyday practice: the cases, difficulties, mistakes, techniques, remedies, and systems. I feel that sharing this, in an organized way over two years, would put to rest some of the controversy and provide homœopaths with practical examples and an understanding of the development and integration of these approaches.

This book will open some practitioners’ eyes to new possibilities, and warn others not to let fall by the wayside knowledge that has stood the test of time. Hopefully, it will remind ‘neoclassical’ homœopaths of the value of keynotes, rubrics, and polychrests, while revealing new possibilities like Hydrogen and Peregrine Falcon to ‘traditional’ homœopaths, and for all of us to see that all knowledge springs from the same source.
Advances in technology have allowed me to reach across borders, schools, and belief systems to directly address students and practitioners. An online forum, called Wednesdays With Rajan (WWR), was conceived and, at the time of writing this Introduction, has been active for one year. It has exceeded all expectations; more than a thousand homœopaths and students from 42 nations log in every week to get their next dose of a slightly higher potency of homœopathy. Brick by brick, we build a solid bridge where the new and traditional are seamlessly integrated and the practitioner develops the ability to travel between the two banks of the symptom and the system of this mighty river of homœopathy.

It was felt that we should write a text book based upon the various concepts addressed in WWR. These concepts begin with the Law of Similars, cover basic concepts like case-taking, Repertory, recent concepts of kingdoms, miasms, and levels along with the latest ideas of synergy, all of which represent the evolution of homeopathy to the present. This makes an excellent manual for practice, and can be the base-camp from which the student and practitioner can explore all areas of homœopathy. With a firm foundation, as provided here, the chances of swaying too far in one direction or the other are minimized.

For the book to come into being, it needed someone who, with the attention and care of an architect, would review the talks, discussions, questions, and comments, to put each in its place, to manifest the whole teaching in a way that is concise, holistic, practical, and useful.

Fortunately, when I broached the topic with my friend, Laurie Dack, she volunteered to guide the project. Laurie embodies all the teaching I have presented, and is an able practitioner and teacher. As an important participant in the renaissance of homœopathy, she is suited for this task. Please join me in acknowledging thanks to Laurie for volunteering her time and energy for this project. Shizuko Nagasawa, a recent but well-grounded and efficient entrant to the profession, ably assisted her.

I wish you, the reader, all the very best in your practice. May the spirit of Hahnemann bless us all.

Rajan Sankaran
Mumbai, April 2013
Generations In Homœopathic Practice

“With the newest evolution of homœopathic practice, we can produce a unique and innovative service for our fellow man. With trust, openness and good intentions on our side, we as a profession can grow and take forward the most beautiful and gentle method of healing, without overlooking the roots that our forefathers established. This synergistic integration of generations— both old and new—will be the legacy that lives on.”

Homœopathic medicine is a medical art that is based upon fundamental principles that have been used effectively in healing for hundreds of years. As time has progressed, the evolution of homœopathic medicine has expanded significantly with each generation of practitioner. As a second-generation homœopath, I was introduced to homœopathy when I was a child. I benefitted from watching my father and several of his contemporaries in close quarters, and heard many enlightening stories and anecdotes about their teachers and seniors. It has been fascinating to watch the evolution of homœopathy across generations in addition to visualizing where the practice is going and what the future is likely to be. I have attempted here to give a structure to this evolution and have described it through its stages of development – invention, intensification, innovation and integration. These stages of homœopathic development loosely parallel the stages of development in other arts and sciences, as well as the stages of development in the periodic table. For example, the first, second and third row have to do with conception and development, the fourth row as solidification, the fifth row with invention and, finally, the sixth row with attaining full maturity, independence and leadership. This article aims to travel through the journey of homœopathic existence and examine each of the four generations along with the respective contributors of its time.

INVENTION

Let us begin with the generation of Invention, the era when the grounding foundations of homœopathic practice were established.

Samuel Hahnemann was the founder of homœopathy. He postulated a healing principle: “That which can produce a set of symptoms in a healthy individual can treat a sick individual who is manifesting a similar set of symptoms — the Law of Similars”. This principle, like cures like, became the foundation for an approach to medicine to which he gave the name ‘homœopathy’. Hahnemann also laid down the fundamental principles of potency, case taking, and case management.
Study Guide for Lecture 1

1) Read the following chapters before you start reading Lecture 1:
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Spirit of Homœopathy, Chapters 1-15
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Sensation in Homœopathy, Part I
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Other Song, Chapters 1 and 2
   - Dr. S.K. Tiwari, Essentials of Repertorization, Part II, Chapters 1 and 2

2) BOOKS NEEDED for Lecture 1
   S. R. Phatak’s Concise Alphabetical Repertory
   Any standard Repertory like Complete or Synthesis
   Sankaran’s The Soul of Remedies
   Sankaran’s Schema
   Kent’s Repertory

3) Read Lecture 1
   Where any rubrics are mentioned, open your Repertory and try to locate them on your own.
Let’s begin at the beginning.

In his own words, Samuel Hahnemann wrote:

“I took by way of experiment, twice a day, four drams of good China (Cinchona). My feet, finger ends, etc., at first became cold; I grew languid and drowsy, then my heart began to palpitate, and my pulse grew hard and small; intolerable anxiety, trembling, prostration, throughout all my limbs; then pulsation in the head, redness of my cheeks, thirst, and in short, all these symptoms which are ordinarily characteristic of intermittent fever, made their appearance, one after the other, yet without the peculiar chilly, shivering rigor, briefly, even those symptoms which are of regular occurrence and especially characteristic - as the dullness of mind, the kind of rigidity in all the limbs, but above all the numb, disagreeable sensation, which seems to have its seed in the periosteum, over every bone in the body - all these made their appearance. This paroxysm lasted two or three hours each time, and recurred if I repeated this dose, not otherwise; I discontinued it, and was in good health.” Samuel Hahnemann

The Law of Similars: Hahnemann’s Experiment

It began with Hahnemann discovering the Law of Similars. In his attempts to discover why Cinchona, the bitter red bark of a tropical tree, was an effective medicine for malaria, he experimented by taking medicine himself. He developed symptoms of periodic fever and chills, headaches, vertigo, and many symptoms similar to malaria. This lead him to postulate that a disease will be cured by a substance that can create a similar state in a person. This was the birth of the Law of Similars.

The Remedy Produces a State of Being

Along with this discovery, he realized something else of profound significance. During a ‘Proving’, Hahnemann noticed different symptoms emerging. He took careful note of each one, recording and collating all his findings. As the experiments continued, he became aware of a change in his whole being.

Hahnemann soon realized that remedies didn’t produce a symptom but did produce an effect on the organism which then developed a whole host of expressions in the
LECTURE 2
DEVELOPMENT (Cont’d)
Study Guide for Lecture 2

1) Read the following chapters before you start reading Lecture 2
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Spirit of Homœopathy, Chapters 21-24, 30-38
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Other Song, Chapters 3 to 9
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Sensation in Homœopathy, Part II, Chapter 1; Part III [Section 1], Chapters 1, 4, 5, 6 and 7; [Section 2], Chapters 1 and 2

2) BOOKS NEEDED for Lecture 2
   - S. R. Phatak’s Concise Alphabetical Repertory
   - Any standard Repertory like Complete or Synthesis
   - Sankaran’s The Soul of Remedies
   - Sankaran’s Schema
   - Kent’s Repertory

3) Read Lecture 2
   Where any rubrics are mentioned, open your Repertory and try to locate them on your own.
Up to this point, we have seen cases where the patients describe peculiar physical or characteristic concomitant symptoms which take us straight to the Repertory in search of the precise rubrics. The remedies that appear in the rubrics are studied and a prescription is made. But when the patient describes symptoms on an emotional level, the path through the Repertory often becomes more challenging. We need to understand the patient at a deep level before we enter the pages of the Repertory.

[Case 24] Lady Affected by Her Friend’s Death - Baryta carbonicum

A very quiet woman from the south Indian state of Kerala arrived at the clinic accompanied by her husband. I noticed that she did not respond to my greeting and sat directly beside her husband, allowed him to begin the consultation.

After their marriage 15 years ago, they had come to settle in Bombay. Recently, his wife had become very fearful. She was too afraid to sleep alone at night when he traveled. “Doctor, in the last while, she even calls in our 13-year-old son at night to share her room. She is too afraid to be alone.”

I turned to her and asked if there had been any kind of stress in her life when these fears began. She glanced toward her husband and he continued to speak for her. “Well, yes. She was very much affected by the loss of her friend, a neighbor who lived in our building. After her friend’s death, she started to become frightened, especially of sleeping alone.”

How can we understand this? We could look at the rubric:

- Mind: Ailments from, death, parents or friends, of

This is a direct rubric choice. We have taken the exact information and circumstance described by the patient’s husband and gone into the Repertory, basing our rubric choice on a single situation.

If we take one more step and ask ourselves, “Why is she so affected by the death of her friend? Who is she? Who reacts to the loss of a friend in this way?” we may come to a fuller understanding of the totality of her expression.

I tried again to engage her, asked simply, “Tell me something about yourself.”

Her eyes quickly darted toward her husband and once more he responded, “She was born and lived most of her life in Kerala in South India. We came to live in Bombay 15 years ago, but she still does not have any friends here. In our entire apartment
LECTURE 3

INTEGRATION
So far, we have studied certain fundamental concepts:

- Hahnemann’s discovery of homœopathy
- Concepts of Holism and Individualism
- Repertory and Materia Medica
- Case-taking and individualizing each patient
- Peculiar symptoms
- Little bit about kingdom, miasm and the levels

Study Guide for Lecture 3

1) Read the following chapters before you start reading Lecture 3:

   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Sensation in Homœopathy, Part III
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, The Other Song, Chapters 10 through 15
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, An Insight Into Plants, Vol I, part I and part III as an overview [you can also read Vol II and Vol III later]
   - Dr. Rajan Sankaran, SURVIVAL – the MOLLUSC, Chapters 1 and 2.

2) BOOKS NEEDED for Lecture 3:

   - The Soul of Remedies
   - Sankaran’s Schema
Integration

It may seem that there are two very different approaches being discussed here: traditional classical homœopathy using Repertory, Materia Medica, and Provings, and what is now referred to as the Sensation Approach with kingdoms, miasms and levels. Many practitioners and students feel they have to choose one way or the other. They question themselves in a particular case, Will I look at symptoms and rubrics or will I look at the kingdom, sensation, and miasm?

When I started to practice, I enjoyed very good results with traditional classical homœopathy, using Repertory and Materia Medica. ‘Guess the Rubric’ was a game I had played with my father when I was young so the Repertory was, and continues to be, essential to my practice.

As the years went on, I noticed that my colleagues and I had inconsistent clinical results. There were some marvelous cases that were doing beautifully and others that had been given many well-considered remedies with no amelioration. Why? Our results were unpredictable which lead to uncertainty in practice. The question of inconsistent results became uppermost in my mind. While trying to understand what made our results so variable, I thought about the homœopathic process.

A patient describes a set of symptoms; the homœopath puts them through a reportorial search and the remedies that run through those rubrics are considered.

For example, a patient may come in with the symptoms of: ailments from worries, weeping disposition, yellow staining leucorrhea, aggravation from sun, aggravation from warmth, and aggravation from fatty food. When all these symptoms are repertorized, several remedies come through all the rubrics: Nux Vomica, Pulsatilla, Nitric acid, Ignatia, and Calcarea. What to do now? How to proceed from here?

In the resulting repertorial chart, diverse remedies like Nux Vomica, Nitric acid, Calcarea come through, which are completely different from each other. At this point, what the patient needs becomes a matter of interpretation. One homœopath may think, “Oh! This is a Calcarea case,” while a colleague may think, ”This is definitely an Ignatia case.” This is the uncertainty.

Another aspect that leads to unpredictable results is that when one set of symptoms is considered, a remedy comes through. But when a slightly different set of symptoms is highlighted, we come to a completely different remedy choice.
- These inconsistencies were very troubling.
- Is a patient a random collection of symptoms?
- Is a remedy an arbitrary group of symptoms?
- Does Ignatia mean symptom A, B, C, D, E, and F?
- Is a patient 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6?
- Are our patients and our remedies just random sets of symptoms?

Reflecting on these questions, we realize that each remedy is derived from a substance that belongs to a group; they are not a random set of symptoms. For example, Lachesis belongs to the group of snakes, Ignatia belongs to the Plant Kingdom and to a specific botanical family known as the Loganiaceae.

Remedy - Spirit of Source From Which It Comes

Each remedy has a particular essence, a unique nature, a specific quality that comes from its source. It is not an arbitrary list of modalities, desires and aversions, fears and anxieties, etc. The symptoms are an expression of the innate quality of that substance. The remedy itself is the ‘spirit’ of the source from which it comes.

Grouping – Kingdoms and Miasms

A remedy can be grouped according to the substance it is derived from. The first category pertains to the kingdoms of Plant, Animal and Mineral. These are basic classifications drawn from the world of natural science. I have discovered that these groupings can be immensely useful in practice. The second grouping is the miasms.

Patterns in the Three Kingdoms

Is there a pattern that distinguishes each of the three kingdoms? What do remedies that belong to a specific kingdom have in common?

Minerals – Structure

Let’s consider three remedies from the Mineral kingdom: Natrum Muriaticum, Argentum Nitricum, and Baryta Carbonicum. Look at our knowledge of Materia Medica and what do we see?

Natrum Muriaticum – relationships

We know one of the main symptoms of Natrum Muriaticum is disappointment in love. The remedy is concerned with relationships, most characteristically the breaking of a love relationship. This sensitivity shows the strong dependence and need of Natrum Muriaticum for relationship.
Lecture 4

[Case 43] Can I Do It, Can I Not Do It - Tantalum

(In this case-study interview, D = Doctor and P = Patient. Italics are author’s notes.)

A young man, 26 years old, came to the clinic for treatment. He had been diagnosed with a severe case of nummular eczema on his leg. Over the last eight or nine years, he had consulted several homœopaths with very little relief.

D: Tell me, what is your experience of having this problem (eczema)?

P: I feel handicapped.

D: What do you mean by ‘handicapped’?

P: As if I don’t have legs.

This is how the case began. His experience of the eczema was of being handicapped, which for him meant not having legs, which is precisely the main characteristic symptom of Baryta Carbonica: ‘Delusion as if he has no legs’. His remedy was not Baryta carb but from the same row of the periodic table.

D: Describe that.

P: I feel handicapped because I feel I lack the ability to stand on my own feet and take responsibility and leadership.

D: Tell me more.

P: Always in my mind there is the question - can I do it or can’t I do it? Should I or should I not, do I have enough or don’t I?

Baryta Carb feels, ‘I don’t have it’; there is no question.

This patient wonders, “Can I do it or can’t I? Should I just keep doing the conservative thing according to the rulebook, doing exactly as others tell me? Or should I strike out on my own and take a leadership role?”

When asked to describe this dilemma further, he gave a very good example of two well-known sportsmen in Indian cricket.

P: In life do I want to be Sunil Gavaskar or do I want to be Kapil Dev?
Lecture 5

The Value of the Repertory
The Value of the Repertory

I have found that the more familiar we are with the Repertory, the easier it is to integrate different approaches of analysis. With the introduction of different concepts, kingdoms, and themes, the Repertory has been neglected at times. This is a big loss. The subject of this talk is the value of the Repertory and the benefits of developing skills to use it artistically.

My Familiarity With The Repertory

I started my study of homœopathy with the Repertory. My father repertorized each one of his cases. He made a list of symptoms that he included in his Repertory search, neatly written in the case record forms. For many years, he taught Repertory at the homœopathic colleges. He would bring home cases from his clinic and, when I was just 13, he would call out the rubrics: ‘Desire for sweets’ or ‘Agg from warmth’; my job was to find common remedies shared by these two rubrics. From a young age, I became familiar with the Repertory. Even before I actually knew the names of the remedies, I knew the abbreviations. With this kind of background, the Repertory became one of the main tools of my practice.

In my father’s time, Kent’s Repertory was almost exclusively used. Later, in 1976, Barthel and Klunker from Germany and Switzerland compiled the Synthetic Repertory. They compiled information from 14 different repertories to create three volumes as a supplement to Kent’s Repertory. The first volume was The Mind, the second was Generalities, and the third volume was Sleep / Dreams and Sexuality.

Repertory As An Index Of Symptoms

A Repertory is an index of symptoms. Beside each symptom is a list of the remedies that are associated or expressed by that symptom. The Repertory is organized in different chapters, listing the symptoms, rubrics and sub-rubrics beneath each heading.

Advantages Of Repertory

There are innumerable advantages of the Repertory - far too many to list - but the most prominent ones are:

• Our memory cannot possibly hold even a fraction of our Materia Medica, so the Repertory catalogue is an essential tool. It is impossible for us to remember all
Lecture 6

REPERTORY (Cont’d)
Study Guide for Lecture 6

1) BOOKS NEEDED for Lecture 6:

- S R Phatak’s Concise Alphabetical Repertory
- Standard Repertory like Complete or Synthesis
- Kent’s Repertory
- Boenninghausen’s Characteristics Materia Medica and Repertory

2) REFERENCES:

I recommend you read the following books

- Dr. Shashi Kant Tiwari, Essentials of Repertorization- part I- 1/7-29
- Tyler, M.L. and John Weir, Repertorizing
- Patel, R.P., Art of Case Taking and Practical Repertorization
- Kanjilal, J.N., Repertorization
- Bidwell, Glen Irving, How to use a Repertory
- Kent, J.T., Repertory of Homœopathic Materia Medica
- Schroyens Fredrick, Synthetic Repertory
- Boger, Synoptic Key
- Boenninghausen, Therapeutic Pocket Book
We will continue to explore our most fundamental instrument, the Repertory. Skillful use of the Repertory grounds our thinking of symptoms, modalities, and rubrics. It gives us the foundation to explore homœopathy itself. If we lose that ground, we lose our footing.

The advantages and different types of repertories have been discussed. Now, I would like to point out some disadvantages of the Repertory and the care that needs to be taken for successful repertorization. I will also talk a little about my own way of repertorizing.

One of the main disadvantages of the Repertory is:

Well-proven remedies are highly represented.

Every symptom of a proven remedy is listed in the Repertory. A polychrest, like Sulphur, Lycopodium, Natrum mur, Calc. carb, with very complete Provings, have a huge number of symptoms and thus thousands of entries in the Repertory. If someone did a mechanical repertorization with common symptoms like;

- Desire sweets
- Aggravation from warmth
- Irritable,

etc., without emphasizing the strength of one symptom or another, the result would always be Sulphur, Natrum mur, Phosphorus or Lycopodium because these remedies appear in the most rubrics. This shows the importance of skillful repertorization. When the patient describes a peculiar symptom and we open the Repertory in search of that specific expression, the Repertory becomes a direct link to the Materia Medica. This way of using the Repertory facilitates us accessing all the remedies, otherwise we would be giving polychrests all the time.

Another caution in using the Repertory is: Be careful while using interpretative rubrics of the Mind chapter.

In the Mind section, we need to tread carefully because it consists of symptoms that are interpretative, some are additions from clinical observation and can be somewhat
LECTURE 7
MATERIA MEDICA
Study Guide and Summary for Lecture 7

We have studied the overall idea of the Sensation Method and the Repertory. In this lecture we will study Materia Medica.

How to study a remedy

- Source information
- Materia Medica - the PQRS symptoms with LSM
- Kingdom
- Miasm
- Complementary and similar remedies
- Repertorial rubrics
- Cases from practice
- Phatak’s Materia Medica

Study of three remedies, one from each major kingdom:

Silicea
Pulsatilla
Lachesis
Similia

How to study a remedy

Source
The first step I recommend is to study the Source from which the remedy is derived, to acquire some basic understanding about the origin of the substance, the kingdom, and sub-kingdom.

Materia Medica – the PQRS symptoms with LSM
To study the Materia Medica of a remedy it is most useful to focus on the peculiar, queer, rare and strange symptoms along with the location, sensation and modalities. The characteristic and unique symptoms are especially important, as are the outstanding mental and general symptoms. When a thorough symptom picture is understood, then we can look at the remedy from the kingdom perspective.

Kingdom
After determining the kingdom the remedy is derived from, we can study its place in the kingdom, which will enable us to see how the characteristic symptoms are understood.

Miasm
The next facet to study is the miasm of the remedy, the pace and depth. Is its sphere of action acute and fast-paced or do the symptoms build slowly, producing deep chronic types of pathology?

Complementary and similar remedies
To differentiate a particular remedy, studying complementary and similar remedies is very helpful. Which remedies are similar or close in terms of symptoms, kingdom, sub-kingdom and pathology? What differentiates these remedies from each other?

Repertorial rubrics
The next step is a search of all the rubrics in which the remedy appears, either from a Repertory extraction (an alphabetical list of rubrics in which the remedy appears) or directly from the Repertory, paying close attention to the ‘grade’ of the remedy and size of the rubric. Are there any single remedy rubrics?
Lecture 8

DISCUSSION SESSION
I would like to describe some cases, which will illustrate how to apply the Materia Medica ideas that have been presented. The case examples will include Silicea, Pulsatilla and Lachesis to help reinforce the remedies already discussed.

CASE 1

(In this case-study interview, D = Dr. Rajan Sankaran and P = Patient. Italics are author’s notes.)

Date: 7th August 2008

Patient: A young woman twenty-five years of age

Profession: Fashion design

Chief complaints: Abnormal facial hair growth and thinning of hair on the top of her head. Her hair was dry with an oily scalp. She had been diagnosed as Polycystic Ovarian Disease and was given contraceptive medication. She said that the medication, ‘freaked me out’. Her menstrual cycle was regular but she experienced pain and cramping during her period.

Pathological diagnosis: Polycystic Ovarian Disease

I asked her to describe her complaints and here is her response:

P: I am very conscious of my hair thinning out. I don’t like people talking to me about it. I become sad and depressed and it tends to play on my mind. The main fear is that eventually I might be bald. I have never been conscious or protective about my hair, but suddenly it has become very important. Everyone in my family has long hair.

I feel I don’t have enough self-esteem and self-confidence. I am very self-conscious. People judge me by my looks. I feel very sad and low. I don’t feel like doing anything and I go into a shell. I don’t want to socialize. I like to be on my own, left alone. I don’t want to come out of my shell. Then I feel very angry. Why can’t I deal with all of this?

I asked her to go into the experience of this feeling.

P: I don’t like mirrors or looking at myself in any way. A weird feeling runs through my body, exactly like when I have an examination - butterflies in my stomach, everything churns inside. I can’t move. My heart rate goes up, my hands tremble
LECTURE 9
MIASMS
Study Guide for Lecture 9

4) BOOKS NEEDED for Lecture 9

- S. R. Phatak’s Concise Alphabetical Repertory
- Any standard Repertory like Complete or Synthesis
- Kent’s Repertory
- Boenninghausen’s Characteristics materia medica and repertory

References

- Dr. Rajan Sankaran – The Substance of Homœopathy, Part II
- Dr. Rajan Sankaran – The Sensation in Homœopathy, Part III, Sections 1 – 6/263
- Dr. Rajan Sankaran – An Insight Into Plants, Vol. I, Part I/53
- Dr. Rajan Sankaran – The Other Song, Part 2, 11 – 24
Miasms as a classification started with Hahnemann, who presented it as a theory about the nature and origin of chronic diseases. Hahnemann found that diseases recurred or persisted in spite of seemingly well-selected medication, and proposed that an inherent ‘taint’ exists in a human being, which predisposes the individual to a particular set of symptoms and diseases. He postulated that this taint, which he named a ‘miasm’ or ‘polluting exhalation’, originated from a particular type of infection. He identified Psora (the itch), Sycosis (a venereal disease that manifests as figwarts), and Syphilis as three main, distinct infections, which leave such a taint. This was primarily an etiological concept; however, Hahnemann also identified a distinct group of symptoms and manifestations for each of the miasms. He classified remedies according to the miasms, and postulated that the miasm be treated by a remedy from the corresponding group.

Miasm - A Way to Classify Disease and Remedies

Initially, I did not see the practical value of this theory. I felt that if a remedy covered the totality of symptoms, it would automatically address the miasm. I saw the concept of miasms as an etiological theory of chronic diseases, a theory without much practical use. However, when I came to the idea of disease as delusion, the miasm classification came to life. I observed that the patient’s delusion had distinct qualities based on the intensity and pace of the perceived situation. I recognized three different types of states possible:

1) the situation is hopeful

2) the situation is not solvable but can be lived with

3) the situation is destructive and hopeless

I saw Hahnemann’s idea of miasms as a way of classifying states of being and remedies. This was of great practical value. I began to study the miasms from a typological viewpoint rather than an etiological one.

The Search For a Common Pattern in Antisyphilitic Remedies

How can this be done? One way would be to see remedies we consider antisyphilitic as sharing a common pattern. With this hypothesis in mind, I embarked on a study. If a common pattern was found in well-known antisyphilitic remedies, then we could conclude that this was the pattern of the syphilitic miasm, which allows us to classify both the patient’s state and the remedy states accordingly. In this way, the miasm concept could become very useful in practice.
Hopeless Despair Leading to Destructiveness

Let’s consider five well-known antisyphilitic remedies: Aurum metallicum, Hepar sulph, Alumina, Mercury and Platinum. We see that there is an underlying pattern in this group of remedies of a deep destructive quality in the physical symptomatology. The homicidal and suicidal features of these remedies are well-described. From this, we could make a hypothesis that syphilitic remedies have a destructive attitude of the mind; if we explore a little further, we see that the destructive attitude is accompanied by an expression of despair and hopelessness.

Kent writes in his lecture of Aurum metallicum, “Intense hopeless depression and disgust of life...talks of committing suicide.”

Phatak describes Syphilinum as having, “Hopeless despair of recovery, antisocial, horrid depression.” These remedies are known for destructive pathologies, ulcerations, degeneration, and necrosis. We see that in syphilitic remedies there is destructiveness in the mind as well as the body.

Miasm - Etiology and Specific Pattern of Disease

A miasm is not only an etiology of disease but also a specific pattern of disease, encompassing both physical manifestations and mental attitudes. This becomes useful clinically. We can restrict our search to remedies from the syphilitic miasm for patients who show this deeply destructive pattern.

The Search For a Common Pattern in Sycotic Remedies

When we examine Thuja, Medorrhinum, Silicea, Pulsatilla, and Causticum, what pattern is seen in sycotic remedies?

Over-reaction, anticipation, and caution

First, we observe the tendency to form warts, growths, keloids and tumors. In the mind, there is a perception of fragility leading to a need to be careful and to cover up. The sense of anticipation is a common symptom in this group.

The destructive quality of the Syphilitic miasm is not present, but we see a strong tendency to caution and fixed ideas. From the perception of fragility and caution comes an over-reaction, either in the form of egotism, or the other extreme of carelessness. This over-reaction comes from defenses that have been built up to protect the weak, fragile spot from exposure. Generally, egotism is a cover-up for a person’s lack of self-confidence, just as over-cautiousness is a cover-up or over-reaction to anticipatory anxiety. The pattern of over-reaction is also seen on the physical level in the over-growth of tissue in the development of warts, keloids, and tumors, when a ‘sentinel pile’ (overgrowth) develops at the edge of a fissure in order to protect the vulnerable area. This pattern is also evident in the over-response seen in allergies, asthma, and a reaction to vaccines. We can understand the Sycotic miasm not only as
SYNERGY
Introduction

Consistency of results is very important in practice. In homeopathy, the traditional methods of Repertory, Materia medica, keynotes, and comparison of symptom pictures with respect to the patient has been the foundation for homœopathic practice. This approach has led to many successful prescriptions and wonderful results.

In the past two decades, there has been much emphasis on remedy classification. This has brought fundamental developments in the understanding and application of kingdoms and miasms. Along with this evolution has come the importance of understanding the exact experience of the patient. This has led to the rediscovery of the Sensation, the generalization of the local sensation into the general state, as described by one of our great master homœopaths, Boennighausen.

Increased findings of the qualities shared between each remedy and its source has brought new dimensions to homœopathic prescribing.

These ideas have been termed ‘The Sensation Approach’ - many homœopaths throughout the world have made use of various aspects of the method. These concepts have especially appealed to the artistic segment of the homœopathic world.

However, I have found that the most consistent results are realized when the artistic side and the logical, traditional side join together. In fact, these two ways of thinking are integrated; when we understand this, our prescriptions are well-rounded and complete.

I have also become aware of a third aspect - the ‘genius’, or the main idea of a remedy, the flavour or essence of a remedy. This has been referred to in some of the homœopathic literature as the ‘generalization’ of a remedy state.

With these three aspects woven together, the consistency and success of my prescribing has increased significantly. I have seen the most wonderful results using this integrated approach and am so eager to share this with my colleagues, practitioners, and students.

SYNERGY

I have come to the conclusion that when ‘symptoms’ and ‘system’ - the left and right brain - come together, it is like a matchbox and a match. You can toss them into the same bag or drawer and nothing happens, but strike them together and you have fire.
Then it is as if one plus one is not two; it is as if one plus one is a thousand.

This is synergy - two things come together with a result that is greater than the sum of the parts. Whether you pick up the matchbox and bring it to the match, or the other way around, the outcome is the same. When the two come together, the fire is lit.

This is the way I work.

I may read something in a case that falls into a concept. For instance, a patient feels harassed, belittled, and looked down upon; this theme is central to the case. This sounds like a mammalian remedy, but I am not sure which one. Then I look for indications on the fact level. Even one strong characteristic symptom like warts on the hands is enough. When it comes together with the system data of “mammal”, the match suddenly strikes the matchbox and the remedy, Lac caninum, is clear.

The reverse may also be true. Symptomatically, I see that the patient has a certain neurotic state that started after the death of his friend. This is a rubric for Ignatia, Nux vomica, Kali bromatum, Natrum muriaticum and several other remedies, ‘Ailments from death of parents or friends’. When I examine the other side, ask the patient about his experience, he describes it as a sudden shock, a surprise, a feeling that he wants to avoid. The fire is lit. The Loganiaceae Sensation comes together with the Sycotic miasm with a rubric containing two other Loganiaceae plants, and you know that the remedy must be Gelsemium.

There is a point when the right and left sides come together with a realization that the remedy has to be this. It is not merely this data added to that data, but an entire understanding of the System on one side intersecting with the rubrics on the other side; the fire is lit.
Synergy

The Triangle of Symptoms, System, and Genius

I would like to share with you the most current evolution of my own practice. It grew from my understanding of the Sensation not as a separate and independent method of practice, but as an interdependent and flexible tool. Used corroboratively and synergistically with traditional methods of analysis, it expands the view of the case and of the remedy. This allows the greatest understanding of what is to be cured in disease, and what is curative in a remedy.

As I focused on the integration of Sensation with traditional homeopathy, interesting things began to happen. I began with a question: How does one best arrive at an understanding of what is to be cured in each patient? I realized that this basic question meant using a flexible approach to case analysis. When approaching a new case, I would look for the anchor – a solid and dependable characteristic that is beyond interpretation. But I found that the anchor given by the patient depended entirely on their level of experience of their own state, and how they were able to express this. One patient might give one or more general symptoms; another might talk about a characteristic physical particular; another might talk directly about his Sensation.

In a fully integrated approach, one does not need to push the patient to express herself within a particular framework that might stray too far from her level of experience. Instead, we can choose a viewpoint of the case that resonates with her experience, as she is able to tell it. This allows for a more organic and gentle style of case-taking that fully respects the patient. This is less draining for homoeopath and patient alike. This is important not only because our process should be gentle, but also because we have found that pushing patients to reveal a deep level of experience in many cases simply doesn’t work.

Following this line of thinking led to deeper consideration of the various angles from which one can view a case and a remedy. There has been the angle of ‘symptoms’ - of traditional Materia Medica, Provings, and rubrics. Then we came to understand the angle of ‘system’ - Sensation, in which we see that the deepest experience of the state (in both patients and remedies) relates to themes of the kingdom, family, and remedy source, as well as to the miasm (the depth of the state, which includes the coping strategy).

I saw that each of these angles could lead to the remedy, yet each could fail on its Appendix I

Article on Phatak’s Repertory

My student and colleague Dr. Munjal Thakar has written a very comprehensive article about Phatak’s Repertory and his approach to case analysis.

An Insight into Dr. Phatak’s approach

by Dr. Munjal Thakar

Dr. Phatak was a master clinician. He was, to the best of my knowledge, the most recent of the followers of Boger’s approach. Unfortunately, Dr. Phatak has written little. Moreover he has practically never penned down his cases. In fact, he never kept written records of his patients!

In the article below an attempt is made to unearth Dr. Phatak’s rationale in-absentia. How accurately it depicts the reality will always remain a matter of doubt. To minimize errors I have rechecked his writings, his language, his phraseology, and his practical application of these concepts in the cases, before making a conclusion about his thought process & its application. I have referred to the following literature:

a) Concise Materia Medica- Dr.S.R.Phatak
b) Concise Repertory- Dr.S.R.Phatak.
c) Clinical experiences - Dr. S.R.Phatak, Edited Dr.P.Sankaran
d) Elements of Homœopathy- Dr.P.Sankaran.

I will try and demonstrate how I could unearth the rationale, by putting together several bits and pieces from various literature written by Dr.Phatak, Dr.P.Sankaran, and others.

For this, let us first of all take a close look at the Materia Medica Dr.Phatak has written.

“Materia Medica of homœopathic Medicines”- Second ed.
Case 10: Young boy with prolapse of rectum. He had great craving for eggs, but when he took eggs his prolapse would be worse. He was given Calc.carb which completely cured the condition.

Comments: [Refer above point 6. Structure & content of Phatak’s Repertory.]

The above mentioned cases clearly depict the flexibility with which Dr.Phatak evaluated symptoms in any case. This flexibility is completely unlike the modern ways. In the modern practice of homœopathy it is already predetermined what is to be looked for in the case and what is most important in the case. This has lead to rigidity in approach. It has lead to rigid schools of thoughts in homœopathy! The issue is not so much about having different viewpoints, but more of being rigid about what we think the truth is. Essentially correct scientific thinking should liberate us from rigid approaches; it should by its innate nature promote integration of differences. Are we going wrong somewhere?

Case 11: Long ago I was consulted by a young lady who had developed black pores on the face. She became so self-conscious that she avoided meeting people. Once however she had to go and attend a social function. There someone, an acquaintance, asked her how she developed the pores. This embarrassed the patient so much that next day, she got convulsions and thereafter the convulsions seemed to recur on and off. I gave her Opium and her seizures disappeared. I gave her Opium on the rubric “Embarrassment agg.” For which my Repertory gives only four remedies viz. Ambr, Ign, Op, and Sulph. Homœopaths generally know well that Opium covers the effects of fright, but it also covers the effects of embarrassment.

Comments: In Phatak’s case and also Boger’s cases the mental symptoms are seldom given the importance the way we modern homœopaths give. The case above is one such illustration where emphasis was given on mental symptoms. Here also, Dr.Phatak and Boger seem to be following the same dictum, viz …. mental attitudes, causation, have their own place in the selection of the remedy, when they are very marked.”

The question, that still remains unresolved in my mind, is this “Are we treating the mentals the way they should be?”- As I think aloud, - the modern homœopathic approach has seen brilliant cures with fair amount of consistency with the way it treats mentals, yet an equally good number of cases are merely palliated (in spite of there being a possibility of a complete cure). This leaves us with space of improvisation. Secondly, I am sure Dr.Phatak and Dr.Boger, had their share of failures too. One could hypothesize that may be the modern approach might have better worked on those failed cases…In any case, the failure of these Masters will not be available to us to study the pattern of their failure. Had this literature been available, we would see their limitations. I think, knowing the limitation of their approach is imperative. It will complete the circle and bring to light a larger picture. Such a study will carve a niche for both- the modern approach which we follow today and the approach followed by these Masters.
their approach is not replacing what we do in our Modern approach, but a thorough conglomeratation of the two viewpoints.

It has resulted into: a) A solid consistency in my ability to produce improvement (in both acute and chronic cases) - i.e. towards a cure. b) More than anything it has given me a cutting edge insight into clinical decision making, interpreting cases & follow ups etc. c) It has given me glimpse of the method to take a case towards cure when you know that you have managed to prescribe only a partially similar remedy; i.e. when is the next remedy required and what will be the totality that would point towards the second prescription.

[Courtesy: The article was first published in German language in the journal “Zeitschrift für Klassische Homöopathie”.]

Dr. Munjal Thakar
M.D.(Hom)
28, Vardhaman Flats, Opp. Jain Merchant Soc, Paldi, Ahmedabad- 380007
INDIA
Email: munjalthakar@gmail.com
Tel: 079-26642523, Mobile: 09227926514

[Along with my private homœopathic practice, I work as a Chief Executive Co-ordinator at Spandan Homœopathic Clinic & Research Center at Ahmedabad, affiliated to Spandan Holistic Institute, Mumbai. It is an NGO run by M.B.Barvalia Foundation. The organization works through a multidisciplinary approach with homoeopathy as the key therapeutic modality in areas of Neurodevelopmental disorder, HIV/ AIDS, Rheumatology. The organization runs a Government sponsored project for treating Autism Spectrum Disorders.(www.holisticfoundation.org)]
Appendix II

Miasms

By

Dr. Roger Morrison

Miasm is staging a comeback. After nearly sinking into oblivion, Hahnemann’s concept is receiving tremendous attention in many locations. Harry van der Zee published his Miasms during Labor describing the miasms in terms of Grof’s psychological insights. Jeremy Sherr recently published his scholarly book, Dynamic Materia Medica: A Study of the Syphilitic Miasm. Rudolph Ballentine’s new book, Radical Healing, deals mainly with miasm. And Rajan Sankaran has been slowly evolving his concept of miasm for the past 10 or more years. Why this sudden rebirth of interest in the concept that Hahnemann proposed 175 years ago?

A Little History

Hahnemann published Chronic Diseases in 1828, bringing to the world his theory of miasm. Hahnemann had been grappling with the question of the frequent failure of homœopathy in chronic conditions. He writes, “Why, then, cannot this vital force, efficiently affected through Homœopathic medicine, produce any true and lasting recovery in these chronic maladies even with the aid of the Homœopathic remedies which best cover their present symptoms…?” (Chronic Diseases) In other words, Hahnemann was searching for the reason that chronic cases relapsed after benefiting from homoeopathic treatment. He says he began to consider this problem in depth from 1817 or 1817 and after many years of thought and effort he came to the discovery of miasm, “To discover this still-lacking keystone and thus the means of entirely obliterating the ancient chronic diseases, I have striven night and day, for the last four years, and by thousands of trials and experiences as well as by uninterrupted meditation I have at last attained my object. Of this invaluable discovery, of which the worth to mankind exceeds all else that has ever been discovered by me, and without which all existent Homœopathy remains defective or imperfect, none of my pupils as yet know anything.” (Letter to Baumgartner) He felt he had unlocked a great truth. Eventually in 1827 he revealed his theory to Stapf and Gross – his two closest students.

Hahnemann had a special understanding of the word miasm. Miasm is understood to Similia

Tubercular Miasm

The feeling of the miasm relates to the ever encroaching and eventually fatally suffocating infection. The patient rebels, struggles, longs for freedom from his condition. He hurries to live his life even as he intuits that it is burning away from him. He feels the walls closing in upon him. His loved ones cannot be trusted. He suffers from respiratory conditions, persecution complex, and deformative arthritis.

Leprosy Miasm

Lepers have suffered enormously through history. The condition is slowly progressive and eventually leads to death. However, even more disturbing to the patient is the reaction of those around him. He is reviled by his friends and community. Where they looked at him with affection they now feel loathing. This results in a desperate state of self-disgust and self-hatred. He feels contempt with his condition and towards himself or others. He desires to tear, mutilate or bite himself. He suffers from suicidal thoughts or impulses, depression, morbid obesity.

Known Remedies of the Leprosy Miasm

Nosodes – Leprominium. Psorinum.

Syphilitic Miasm

Syphilis was an inexorable death sentence in the pre-antibiotic era. The condition is utterly destructive – either physically or mentally. Extreme nihilism marks the patient in the uncompensated state. The diseases are destructive of bone and tissue leading eventually to death. The patient reacts to his illness or his perceived life situations as though under a death sentence. He is prone to feelings of violence and revenge. Suicide or homicidal feelings are common. Destructive addictions often
Appendix III

Miasms - an Overview

By

Dr. Manish Bhatia

In his work The Spirit of Homœopathy, Sankaran had described disease as ‘delusion’, the ‘awareness’ of which becomes a ‘cure’. In his subsequent work ‘The Substance of Homœopathy’, he extends his approach to disease to the concept of miasms. Unlike others who developed their understanding of miasms through the cause and classification of diseases, Sankaran evolved his ideas of miasms by trying to find the common theme in the mental states and delusion of known anti-miasmatic remedies. From there he extended the concept to the physical and pathological states corresponding to the miasms.

For example, to develop an understanding of Psora he studied known antipsoric remedies like Sulphur and Psorinum and compared their underlying theme, delusions and state to find the common miasmatic ground.

Sankaran says - “The acute (miasm) is the immediate reaction necessary to survive. Psora is the reaction to a situation which demands struggle with the circumstances outside in order to survive. Sycosis is the reaction to a situation that demands that he accepts his own weakness and cover it up to survive. The syphilitic reaction comes with the realization that adjustment is no longer sufficient and that in order to survive he must bring about a radical change in the internal or external circumstances, or both.”

Sankaran’s approach on the mental plane may seem radical to many but on the ground his use of physical symptoms of the miasms is very classical. The only difference is that Sankaran has come to hold the ear from behind the head! Sankaran has evolved his understanding of miasms with his understanding of medicines and their mental states.

The significant aspect of Sankaran’s concept of miasms is his focus on newer miasms like Tubercular, Leprous, Cancer, Malarial, Typhoid and Ringworm. He says Typhoid miasm is a sub acute miasm, which lies between the acute, and Psoric miasms. It has the main feeling of a critical situation, which, if properly handled for a critical period, will end in a total recovery. Ringworm miasm lies between Psora and Sycosis. It is characterized by an alteration between periods of struggle with anxiety about its success, and periods of despair and giving up. Malarial miasm, which lies between acute miasm and Sycosis, has an acute feeling of threat that comes up intermittently. Tubercular, Leprosy and Cancer miasm lie between Sycosis and Syphilis. In Tubercular miasm the feeling is of intense oppression and exploitation, and a desire for change. Cancer miasm has a feeling of weakness and incapacity within, with a desire for perfection. Leprosy has the feeling of intense oppression, intense hopelessness, and an intense desire for change.

The other difference in Sankaran’s approach is his list of anti-miasmatic remedies. Since he uses a different classification of miasms and also relies on the ‘state’ of the patient to judge the miasm, he has his own list of anti-miasmatic remedies.

I cannot dwell deeper on Sankaran’s approach here but I would like to say that although Sankaran’s miasms appear very different from Hahnemann’s miasms, they are actually not. Sankaran has picked all his miasms from infections and uses physical symptoms too, to identify a miasm just like others. The difference in his work is that he has been able to associate different mental states with each miasm and the transition from one miasm to another is shown through successive changes in the mental state. The only drawback in Sankaran’s approach is that his process relies so heavily on a specific method of case-taking, analysis and understanding of mental states that it introduces a lot of subjectivity and others may find it difficult to get the same results by following his approach.
Index

7
7th Level 95, 96, 141

A
A†dark dusky†remedy; dark†face; sooty nostrils; dark†lips, hands, etc. 319 abdomen pain 21, 29, 52, 108, 137 rumbling, fasting, agg 55 stretching, with 29 abdominal 21, 28, 29, 52, 108, 137, 154, 170, 212, 306, 328
Abies nigra 141
Abrotanum 70, 71, 90, 141, 342
abrupt 34, 35
Aconite 141, 214, 240, 319, 334, 340
Adulterous 33, 318
Aethusa 42, 43, 341
aggravation from warmth 75, 146
aggression 172, 195, 199, 283
Agnus Castus 38, 39, 141
AIDS 41, 289, 332
Ailing, worn out, nervous, flatulent, and flabby 320 ailments before examination 171 from anticipation 171 bad news 171, 252 disappointed love 80, 81 fright 131 reprimands 131 punishment from 131 Alert 35
allopathic 22, 37, 38, 67, 120, 218, 229, 301, 311, 329
Aloe 268, 342
Alumina 27, 81, 83, 84, 174, 182, 183, 212, 213, 214, 222, 223, 234, 237, 285, 312, 343
An Insight Into Plants 74, 236
Anac 153, 158
Anacardiaceae 101, 102, 103, 116, 213
Anacardium 102, 103, 140, 342
anaesthesia 26, 43
Anantherum 28, 341
Anarchist, revolutionary 33, 146
Anchor 314
anger at absent persons, while thinking of them 225 irascibility general, violent 118 jealousy, with 199 touched, when 199 violent 199 kill desire to 194 trembling with 225
angina pectoris 227
Anhalonium 58, 59, 168, 255, 342
Animal kingdom 37, 77, 80, 92, 93, 108, 110, 111, 112, 191, 194, 206, 208, 220, 226, 234, 268, 280, 282, 285, 290
Antimony 34, 87, 89, 91, 132, 341
Antisyphilitic 237
anxiety 53, 81, 84, 131, 171, 174, 221, 222, 306
anxiety after fright 131
after midnight 174 disorder 221
midnight, after 222
when a time is set 171
Apis 117, 118, 119, 120 appetite easy satiety, bites, after a few 152 increased during fever 152
Appetite Increased, hunger in general vanishing attempting to eat, on 152
Ravenous, canine, excessive, eating after soon 152
Argentum 76, 87, 128, 135, 136, 142, 153, 183, 184, 225, 239, 259, 274, 318, 329, 334, 342
Argon 81
Arnica 71, 90, 141, 340
Arsenicum 29, 30, 51, 52, 77, 84, 87, 120, 127, 129, 132, 142, 154, 161, 239, 259, 274, 342
Art of Case Taking and Practical Repertorization 145
ASO 117
assimilation 82, 181

Astatine 89
asthma 40, 142, 179, 270 asthma aggravation from draft 179 bronchial 55, 169, 170, 269
worse in summer 142
Aurum met 84, 162, 168, 169, 190, 237 autoimmune arthritis 117
autoimmune disorder 117, 312
autoimmune hepatitis 95, 103, 110 Avogadro 19
axilla 169, 173
baby 15, 33, 65, 69, 90, 140, 242, 266, 274, 277 back pain general, sacral region, extending, to thighs, right agg., by pressing at stool or coughing 164
warts, cervical region 127
Back Chair, leaning on, amel 136 pain standing while, erect almost impossible after sitting 126 spondylitis, cervical region 102 Bambusa 147, 317
banana 7, 271, 272
Barthel 89
Barthel and Klunker 11, 68, 123
Similia

Baryta Carbonica 49, 107, 185
Basic Homúopathy 41
Bathing, warm, ameliorates 180
Becker, Juergen 55, 56 bed post 29
bee 77, 78, 119, 198
Belladonna 19, 64, 69, 91, 129, 130, 139, 164, 240, 242, 243, 312, 323, 334, 340
Bellis perrenis 90
Bhatia, Dr. Manish 344
Bidwell, Glen Irving 145
Bismuth 89, 334
bizarre 28
Black Mamba 46, 56, 110, 200 blisters 44, 45, 54, 214, 216, 217 blood pressure 20, 21, 250, 311 Bogeris Synoptic Key 10, 132, 133, 136, 145, 296, 313, 318, 319, 320, 322, 323, 324, 325, 327, 330 breath 67, 85, 139, 187, 241, 270, 276, 312 breathe 98, 154, 210, 212, 241, 242, 246, 259, 260, 270, 281
Bromium 84, 172, 342
Bryonia 96, 123, 125, 248, 249, 334, 340, 341
buccal cavity 44, 45
Bufo 43, 44
Burnett, Dr. 92
bypass surgery 52, 103, 227, 228, 229, 231
C Cadmium 87
Caesium 89
cage 102
Calc 67, 68, 84, 146, 152, 158, 159, 160, 183, 206, 330, 334, 336, 337
Calcium 84
Calendula 90, 340
Camphor 26, 153
Candegabe 318
Cannabis-indica 128 cannot weep, when sad 171
Cantharis 36, 37, 329
Capsicum 69, 70, 334, 341
Carbo Vegetabilis 32, 33, 313, 341
carbuncle 194
Carcinosin 79, 156, 239, 259, 273
Card Repertory 152 cardiac valvular disease 137
cardiomyopathy 111
Case of Spondylosis Nux Vomica 22
Case-taking 74
Cedron 132, 341
Cenchris 56, 201, 343
central disturbance 40, 68, 120, 155 central serous retinopathy 109 cervical spondylosis 22, 101, 102
Chakraborty, Dr. B. N. 44, 54
Chamomilla 22, 79, 90, 140, 248, 249, 334, 341 Characteristic Repertory 160, 327 cheeks 18, 45, 253
Chelidonium 158, 159, 334, 341
Chest coldness internal, as if ice water were rising and descending through a cylindrical tube 28
Heat, axilla 169
Mammae, complaints of, menses before 160
Pain, General, mammae, menses, before 160
Children when asleep, jump, cry, grasp the mother, startled, nervous children 81 CHIN-S 152
Chlorine 81
Chocolate 13, 147, 340
Chromium 84 chronic synovitis; of knee joint 67 cicatrices 179
Cicuta 134, 135, 323, 334, 342
Cina 70, 90, 140, 334, 341
CINA 152
Cinchona 18, 20
clairvoyance 92, 196, 220
clairvoyance - feature 92, 201, 202
clam - experience 108
Clam - remedy 108
Clarke, John Henry 10, 92
Classical 7, 113
claudication 227, 228, 233
Clinical Experiences by S.R. Phatak 133
Cobaltum 84
Cocculus 164
cocoanut 36, 37, 94, 206
Coffea 69, 129, 167, 270, 320, 342 cold agg and heat 206 heat, and cold 199
aggravation 170, 206
aggravation in general 170 company aversion to, agg presence of:
strangers, to 202
solitude, fond of 202 solitude, fond of, fancy, to indulge herself 202 complaints before menses 160 Compositae 70, 71, 90
compounder 32, 229
Concise Alphabetical Repertory 17, 48, 145, 236 concomitant symptoms 23, 27, 49, 143, 147, 160
concussion 138 confidence, want of self, others have none which makes her unhappy, and thinks 84 confusion 83, 84, 114, 174, 213, 214, 222, 223, 248, 256, 280, 300, 311, 335, 338 confusion as to his identity 83 identity, as to his 213, 222 of mind as to his identity 174 Conifer 42, 55, 91, 184 constipation from mental shock, nervous strain 61 mental shock, nervous strain from 134 contradictory intentions are contradictory to speech 213
Cooper, Dr. 92
Corallium 153, 154
coryza 141, 172, 224, 270
coryza, ascending 172
cough 31, 32, 154, 155
cough bending the head backwards 155 bending, head backward agg 32
dry emaciated boys in 155
dry, emaciated boys in 32
minute gun, short, hacking cough, like 154 minute, guns, short, hacking cough 154 paroxysmal consisting of three coughs 154 consisting of two coughs 154 consisting of two coughs, quick succession, in 154 minute gun 154
uninterrupted paroxysms 154 violent, spasmodic jerking of head forward and knees upward 31 whooping, minute gun 154
Coulter, Catherine 114
Court of Appeal 147, 234 covers ameliorate and desire for 180 crack in the heel 154, 225 in the soles 154 in the winter 154
craving 149, 168, 190, 254 craving combination of tastes 156 for fish 149
for salt 168
for spice 149
Crocus 113, 168, 342
Crotalidae 194, 202
Crotalinae 197, 200, 201, 202, 220
Crotalus 56, 92, 200, 201 crystallization 66
Cubeba 60, 61
Culex 37
Cullen, W 18 culture 131 cunning 35
Cuprum 34, 84, 87, 133, 134, 154, 244, 341
Cyclamen 64, 65, 66, 150, 334, 342
D
death presentiment of 201 thoughts of 201
Deceitful 35, 43, 199
deleitful, sly 199 delusion alone in the wilderness 128 as if he has no legs 107 body divided, left half does not belong to her 185 body is brittle 128 brother fell overboard in her sight 129 choked 36
choked, by icy cold hands 37 consciousness belongs to another 83, 213 conspiracies against him there are 194
conspiracy 220 crime he has committed 128 deserted, forsaken 129
dirty that he is 130 dog of 46
duty he has neglectedi 112 errors of personal identity 83 everything is strange or familiar things are strange 130 fail, everything, will 185 forsaken, deserted 187 head belongs to another 83, 213 injury will receive 128 legs are cut off 116 murder, someone that he has to 194 murdered, that he will be 130 neglected duty 112 neglected she is 187 of being sold 130 sees robbers 129
soda water, thinks he is a bottle 128 sold, being 64
strangers sees 129 that she is looked down upon 111 unfortunate 46 wonderful, beautiful landscape 129 wrong he has suffered 112 Delusion looked down upon 77 delusions everything she says is a lie 111 he is being injured 112 impressions beautiful, wonderful 203 beautiful, wonderful: landscape 203 conspiracies against him 199
conspiracies against: him, there are 201
deserted, forsaken 202
die: about to: he is 201 injury: injured, is being 198 injury: receive, will: friends, from his 202 people: behind him, someone is 201 poisoned: about to be, that he is 201 poisoned: has been, he 201 superhuman: control, is under 201 talking: friends talking about her 202 pursued by enemies 194 surrounded by enemies 166

Dendroaspis polylepis 110
Desai, Dr. Bhanu 132, 133 desire for cold drinks 189
for salt 149
for sweets 123, 225 for warm food and drinks 225 sweets 146 desires solitude to practice masturbation what disagrees 190
Dev, Kapil 107
dialysis 103
diarrhúa 82, 135, 138, 153
dictatorial, domineering, dogmatic 118
DIOS 153
Dioscorea 137, 138, 153 diversion amel 139
dizziness 136
Doctrine of Analogy 132 of Concomitant 132
of Signatures 93, 94, 206 Draggy, relaxed females 319
dreams 51, 66, 118, 123, 128, 129, 157, 158, 159, 181, 182, 187, 212, 216, 224, 225, 252, 255, 264, 265, 284, 303 dreams animals of, pursued by, wild 159 being pursued by wild animals 181 dynamization 19
dysmenorrhoea 108, 299, 302, 307
Eagle 115 eating 27, 135, 140 eating ameliorates 140
Echinacea 90, 343
Ectothermic 195, 199
eczema 21, 23, 37, 38, 39, 64, 65, 66, 107, 108, 133, 134, 174, 183, 223, 312, 342
Edematous swelling 119 Egotism rubric 88, 185, 298
theme 81, 82, 238
Elapidae 112, 200
Elaps 28, 29, 56, 58, 156, 200, 201, 343
Electronic Resources 8 emaciation 68, 71, 82, 327
envy 34
eructation 329
eructation with pressive pain on the chest during meals 222
eructations ameliorate 174 eruptions itching without 135 erysipelas 119
Essentials of Repertorization 17, 145
Euphorbiaceae 71
Eupionum 136
evening aggravation 225

Excitable and overactive. Oversensitive; to noise, it may even be painful (Ther.); to pain, pleasure, etc 320 external throat 181, 212

external throat clothing agg 200

sensitive touch, to slightest 200

external throat, warts 181

extremities corrugated nails 180

cracks skin, feet, heel 127

skin, feet, soles 127

eruption, elbow, bend of, eczema 133

heat; flushes; feet; soles 61 itching, toes, evening, on undressing 41

jerking, lower limbs, on going to sleep, one leg is jerking up 156 nails, discoloration, White spots on 181

perspiration, forearm 125

perspiration, lower limbs, nates, buttocks 151 restlessness, feet 160

restlessness, hands 160

roughness fingers, nails, ribbed 127

warts, hands, fingers 127

eye pain, drawing

backward, the eyeball 31

face eruptions, acne, menses before 159

greasy 149

hairy 148, 149

perspiration, lips, upper 151

fairies 32, 33

Farrington, Dr. 92

fear animals, snakes of 200

appearing in public, of 185 behind him, that someone is 201

dog of 46

failure, of 185

falling of 185

forsaken, of being 187

he would be sold 64

neglected, of being 187

of dark 36

of dogs 51, 129, 169

of examinations 185

of high places 159

of slights 188

of strangers 227
of undertaking a new enterprise 185

sleep
go to, to: lest: die, he would 201 undertaking anything, a new enterprise 227 feelings of inferiority 112

feels as if somebody else has heard or said something when he has heard or said it 213

feigning, sick 199

Ferrum 84, 103, 244, 247, 334, 341, 342

fever noise from 125

Fixity 309

fl-ac 152, 153, 158, 159

flatulence up anddown passing amel 136, 329

flatus 135, 136, 225, 329

Flexibility 326

Fluoride 67

Fluorine 67, 85

forced out 112, 113, 319

Formic Rufa 37

forsaken feeling

beloved by his parents, wife, friends, feels is not being 81

friendless, feels 202

Fragmenta de Viribus medicamentorum Positivis 123

fruit 7, 156

frustration 97, 119, 215, 217, 233, 284

G

Gallavardin 146, 318

Gallium 84

gambler, passion for gambling 147

Gandhi, Dr. Mahesh 253

Gandhi, Indira 26, 27, 279

gangrene 193, 194, 201, 221, 313

Gavaskar, Sunil 107

Gelsemium 153, 171, 252, 267, 295, 300, 301, 327, 342

Generalities

27, 29, 55, 82, 123, 156, 181, 300, 323, 324, 325, 329, 330, 331, 336, 337

Generalities

emaciation, appetite, ravenous with 82

food and drinks: ashes, desire 55 and drinks: buttermilk, desires, sweetened 156 and drinks: sweet, desire, and salt 156 and drinks: sweet, desire, and sour 156 desire for sweetened buttermilk 29 potatoes aggravate 27 generalization 23, 27, 38, 41, 60, 133, 139, 287, 294, 312

Geneva 140
genitalia female Menses wash off, difficult to 127
semenal discharge, bloody 30
Genius 296, 297, 300, 318, 324
Germanium 84
ghost 91, 118, 119, 131, 246 giddiness 136, 221
glomerulonephritis 39, 287 goddess 37, 38
gonorrhea 44
grand generalization 113, 132, 312, 313
graphites 153, 154, 158, 159, 160, 334, 336, 337 Gratiola 138, 342
grief silent 150
undemonstrated 150 grotesque 28
group consciousness 57, 58, 59
Group Proving 55, 56 guide 88
Guiding Symptoms 10, 11, 64
Gutman, Dr. William 185, 187, 194
H
Hahnemann, Dr. Samuel 8, 9, 18, 19, 20, 22, 23, 35, 55, 74, 93, 100, 123, 190, 237, 238, 239, 256, 257, 258, 291, 292, 308, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 344 Hahnemann, Samuel 18, 237 hanging affected parts amel 24, 25 down parts ameliorate 139 limbs, amel 25
harassed 70, 103, 252, 253, 256, 279, 294 harm 50, 51, 111, 119, 130, 180, 201, 283 hated and revenge 194
hatred
persons of, agree with him, who do not 27 head baldness of young people 185 hair, baldness, young people 128 itching of scalp, sleep, when going to 39 itching scalp, sleep on falling to 39 pain, fright after 31 headache 94, 113, 139, 164, 168, 241, 242 heart attack 103, 221 hands over heart 137
calcalation 21
Helix Toasta 172
Helleborus 319, 334, 341
Helonias 113
hematoma 138
hemorrhage 193, 201
Hepar Sulphur 39, 288, 343
Hering, Constantine 9, 11, 64, 93, 169, 193, 291, 327, 335, 339 hide desires to 64 fear from 64
high places aggravate 159
Histamine 167
HIV 332 holding the breath ameliorates 139
the hand over heart 137
holistic 8, 20, 99
hologram 21
Homúopathic Drug Pictures 114 horrible things, sad stories, affect him profoundly 169
How to use a Repertory 145
Hudson, Dr. 92
hurried, when eating 225
Hyoscyamus 62, 64, 69, 91, 120, 129, 130, 142, 252, 313, 341
I identity 54, 63, 82, 83, 84, 88, 90, 149, 156, 174, 181, 182, 183, 184, 207, 212, 213, 214, 222, 223, 244 idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura 112
Ignatia 75, 78, 80, 131, 132, 152, 164, 171, 259, 277, 278, 295, 334, 342 impulse to stretch with abdominal distress 29 impulsive 35, 37
inability to realize responsibility 166 independence 9, 82, 183, 196, 226 indifference, to loved ones 166 Indium 87
individualistic 20
inferior 50, 105, 111, 197, 232 inflammation 10, 24, 25, 68, 90, 312 intense pain 108, 135
IOD 152
Iodum 87, 342
Ipecac 34, 341
Similia

Iridium 89
Iris versicolor 168

ischemic heart disease 52, 162, 311

itch 37, 38, 39, 41, 95, 133, 134, 135, 214, 224, 291

ITP 113, 301, 306, 308

J

Jatropa 135

jaundice 140, 255, 264, 287

jealousy 34, 92, 198, 199, 203, 204 brutal, kind man becoming 204 crime, to a 204 foolish as it is irresistible, as 204 images, with frightful, tendency tomock, satire and ridiculous ideas 204 insane 204 kill, driving to 204
loquacity, with 204
quarrels, reproaches, scolds 204 saying and doing what he would not sayand do 204 sexual excitement, with 204 strikes his wife 204 tearing the hair 204 women between 198
jesting fun of somebody, making 204

K

Kanjilal, Dr. J. N. 90, 145
Kapadia, Dr. Sarabhai 38, 55 keloid 181
keloids 179, 183, 238, 276
Kent Homúopathics 169
Kent, James Tyler 10, 82, 145 kill desire to; poison, impulse to 199
King Cobra 112
Kishore, Dr. Jugal 152
kite 33, 34
Knerr, C. B. 225, 337
Koppikar, Dr. 40, 41
Krypton 84

L

Lac Caninum 77, 111, 267, 342
Lac humanum 115
Lac Leoninum 109, 110, 285
Lac-can 168
Lachesis 46, 56, 61, 75, 77, 78, 79, 80,92, 93, 129, 135, 170, 177, 191, 193, Generations In Homœopathic Practice

194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 206, 210, 220, 289, 343

lamenting, bemoaning, wailing, appreciated, because he is not 27 Lanthanum 89
lassi 29, 156
late learning to talk 82
Laurocerasus 136, 137, 313, 342
Law of Similars 9, 18
Lectures on Homœopathic Materia Medica 114 left brain 37, 116, 175, 309 Lesser-Known Remedies 103
leucoderma 26
Level
1 72, 147, 315
2 72, 147, 316
3 72, 147, 233
4 72, 147, 233
5 72, 147
Delusion 45, 50, 99, 247
Fifth 95
First 94
Generalization 23, 312, 327, 331
Physical 19, 155, 238, 291
Second 94
Sensation 112, 133, 147, 149, 309
Sixth 95
Third 94
Liliaceae 113
Lilium Tigrinum 113
Lippe, Dr 45, 46
Little, D 121 liver 103, 110, 329
liver transplant 103
LM potencies 218, 223
Loganiaceae 75, 80, 171, 251, 259, 277, 295, 300 logic 91, 108, 163, 292, 331 longing for the good opinion of others 89, 91 loquacity changing quickly from one subject to another 198 jesting, with 198
with jesting 126, 220 losing 27, 33, 66, 67, 70, 77, 96, 121, 130, 173, 219, 230, 267, 274, 312 LSM 177, 178
lumbar 136, 138
Lycopodiaceae 225, 226
Lycopodium 32, 104, 127, 146, 154, 155, 166, 170, 206, 225, 226, 227, 234, 341
Lyssin 37, 38, 313
M MacRepertory 6, 169, 303
Similia

macrocosm 21
Magnesium 61, 77, 81, 82, 84, 127, 153, 156, 157, 158, 159, 182, 183, 212, 253, 265, 320 magnetism 179, 180, 182 Magnoliaceae 130
male sexual, pollutions, seminal emissions general dreams without 153
Mandragora 64, 91, 258, 283, 284, 342
Manganum 84, 168
Mangifera 100, 102, 103
marasmic 70 marasmus 82 mask 110
Materia Medica Pura 100, 291
Medical Advance, The 92 meditation 20, 101, 102, 141, 224, 333
Medorrhinum 44, 45, 54, 61, 120, 151, 156, 160, 165, 166, 189, 238, 257, 267, 324, 338, 342
Mehta, Dr. Kamlesh 175
menses 68, 127, 159, 160, 188, 220, 265
menses
blackish 220
concomitants, before menses, mammae 160 Mentors
Boeninnghausen 23
Boger 10, 23, 132, 133, 136, 145, 296, 311, 312, 313, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 329, 330, 331
Merc.iod.ruber 41
Mercurius 30, 51, 165, 166, 324, 334, 335, 338, 343
Mercury 41, 89, 146, 154, 237
Mezereum 23, 133
Cancer 69, 70, 71, 79, 102, 115, 161, 184, 239, 259, 274, 277, 278, 279, 289, 313, 339, 342, 344
Leprosy 102, 135, 239, 253, 255, 258, 278, 279, 280, 283, 289, 291, 339, 342, 344
Leprous 163, 194, 256, 267, 278, 279, 280, 283, 288, 291, 344
Malaria 102, 239, 253, 255, 256, 279
Malarial 70, 103, 244, 253, 256, 262, 298, 339, 341, 344
Ringworm 40, 54, 102, 115, 239, 244, 259, 261, 262, 265, 339, 341, 344
Sycotic 51, 54, 101, 102, 111, 113, 115, 116, 131, 166, 170, 171, 179, 180, 181, 183, 184, 185, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 233, 238, 256, 259, 261, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 289, 290, 295, 300, 339, 341, 342

Tubercular 71, 238, 239, 249, 255, 256, 269, 270, 272, 279, 289, 290, 339, 340, 342, 344

Typhoid 33, 69, 101, 102, 239, 244, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 259, 260, 262, 269, 276, 289, 291, 339, 340, 341, 344

microcosm 21
migraine 30, 299
Millifolium 90
Mind 27, 34, 41, 50, 68, 118, 123, 146, 147, 155, 163, 179, 317, 318

Mind
abrupt 34
absorbed, buried in thoughts 163 activity, mental activity, with sleeplessness 167 ailments from death of parents or friends 50 death, parents or friends, of 49 anger, mistakes over his 163
anxiety about health, which represented their great concern and anxiety over small symptoms 53
about money matters 53 conscience of as if guilty of a crime 132 friends 81
aversion to certain persons 40 aversion, persons, to certain 39 break things, desire to 118 childish behaviour 43, 50 childish behaviour, body grows, but 43
clairvoyance 92
contemptuous, relations, for 163 crawling on the floor 196 cut, mutilate, slit, desires to, others 38 dark, fear of 164 deceitful, sly 43
delusion enlarged, eyes are 131
imquisitions, thieves, robbers, sees, house in 52 marriage, has to be dissolved 166 delusion, body parts, delicate 42 delusion, danger, from his family 130, 131 delusion, engagement, betrothal has to be broken 166 delusion, imaginations crime, about to commit 51 murdering, husband and child, she is about to murder her 51 delusions body, body parts, erroneous ideas, as to the state of his body 164 imaginations, married, she is 132 imaginations, neglected; duty his 56 imaginations, spectres, ghosts, spirits, sees 36 Imaginations, walls, falling, inward 32 imaginations, watched, that she is being 63 imaginations, wrong: suffered has 56
imaginations: enlarged 59 imaginations: floating in air 59
imaginations: wrong, suffered, has 37
neglected duty, his 162 reproach, has neglected duty and deserves 162 delusions, imaginations, crime committed, he had 65 dreams
flying 118 egotism and haughty 88 egotism, or self-esteem 81 embarrassment 81
envy 34
fear betrayed, being 63 duty, neglect her, to 162 extravagance, of 164 of poverty, fear that they may come to want 85 poverty, of 67
sleep, to close the eyes lest he should never wake 43 undertaking anything, new 166 which is excited, after hearing of cruelties 26
forsaken feeling 81
going out, aversion to 65
grief 50, 65
grief ailments from, cry cannot 150 grief silent 150 grief, silent, undemonstrative 65
hatred
persons of, who do not agree with him 27 hatred for persons, who do not agree with him 40 horrible things, sad stories affect her profoundly 26 hurry, in occupation, hurry in movement, hurry in eating and hurry in everything 167 ideas, abundant, clearness of mind, uncertain in execution, but 166 identity, confusion of 83 impulse to kill her beloved 51 impulsive, stab his flesh with the knife he holds, to 37
indifference, apathy, to the welfare of others, to 162 irritability, menses, before 159
jealousy 34, 118
jealousy, general 118 kill desire to, husband 51 kill desire to, sudden impulse to 50 kill, desire to, person that contradicts her 165
lamenting, bemoaning, wailing, appreciated, because he is not 27
laughing, serious matters, over 164 light desire, for 163 light shuns, doesn’t want light 170 light, desires 79 malicious, vindictive 43
merging of self with one’s environment 59 monomania, to appear in public in a grotesque manner 28 music amel, sad 168 music amel., drums produce euphoria 168 music amel., rhythmic 168 recognize everything, but cannot move, in catalepsy 164 remorse 167 responsibility, aversion to 165 responsibility, inability to realize 165 responsibility, unusual aggravates 162 restlessness, waiting, during 167 sadness, weeping impossible 150 secretive 132
startled, when called by his name 163 strangers, in presence of agg 50 striking, general, children, in, other, when not observed 161 sympathetic, compassionate 81 the person is yielding and yet also could be obstinate 180 threatening 34
unfeeling, hard-hearted 162
weeping at sad thoughts, but cannot weep 150 weeping when narrating her complaints 189
weeping, cannot weep 150 weeping, tearful mood, goes off alone and weeps as if she had no friends 50
weeping, thanked, when 166 weeping, ungratefulness, at 166 will, contradiction of 56 mischievous 35, 117, 120 mocking ridicule, passion to 204
sarcasm 204

omodality 23, 25, 26, 27, 33, 41, 118, 133, 134, 136, 138, 139, 142, 169, 170, 179, 202, 206, 224, 324, 329, 332

Modern Medicine 21

Molluscum Contagiosum 38

Mollusk 172

Molybdenum 87

money 52, 53, 54, 64, 66, 67, 84, 85, 86, 87, 129, 183, 229, 245, 247, 249, 250, 251, 259, 274, 281 mood 50, 96, 216, 231, 276, 280, 283, 298, 301, 306, 321

Morrison, Dr. Roger 333

motions of the tongue, in and out of the, like a snake 196

mouth

dry with thirstlessness 123

salivation, sleep during 30

mucous colitis 135

Myoclonal Jerk 25

N

Naja 56, 93, 111, 112, 196, 200, 201, 343

Nash, E. B. 46

neoclassical 7

nervous anxiety 52

Niccolum 84, 86, 87, 88, 89, 244, 341

Nikam, Dr. Amar 41

Niobium 87

Nitric acid 26, 75, 151

Nitric Acid 25, 151, 329

Nitric-acid 150

nocturnal emissions 153

non-committer 166

nose

coryza, stool, during 141

itching, eating, while 135

knobby tip 127

perspiration on 151

nosode 54, 79, 257, 259, 272, 338, 339, 341

Nux moschata 130, 135

Nux V omica 22, 33, 34, 75, 171, 334, 341

O

opinion 27, 82, 88, 89, 91, 182, 211, 213, 256, 318, 334, 335

Opium 131, 164, 313, 328, 330, 334, 342

Organon 12, 35, 140, 308, 335

Osmium 89, 343

Other Song, The 14, 17, 48, 74, 236, 309

ovarian cyst 108

Oxygen 178, 212, 265, 271
Generations In Homœopathic Practice

P

pain 28, 136, 160, 164, 174, 203, 218, 244, 262

pain

in the chest pressing while eating 174

swallowing

agg: empty 203

agg: liquids 203

Palladium 87, 88, 89, 342

Pani puri 156

Papavaraceae 158

parotid gland 24, 328

Parotiditis 24

Patel, R. P. 145

pavbhaji 118

peptic ulcer 29

Periodic Table 174, 179, 180, 181, 184, 207, 265, 298

10th Column 184, 213

1st Row 90

2nd column 88

2nd Row 33, 67, 85, 90, 271

3rd Row 54, 81, 82, 83, 84, 86, 90, 148, 174, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 207, 212, 213, 214, 222, 223, 244, 264, 285, 298

4th Row 51, 54, 67, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 90, 103, 116, 160, 161, 244, 247, 259, 274

5th Row 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 103, 184, 214, 244, 274

6th Row 51, 83, 88, 89, 90, 107, 116, 174, 244

7th Row 90, 285

peripheral neuritis 135

peripheral vision 157, 316, 317

Peripheral vision 316

persecuted 45, 70, 103, 252, 253, 256, 279, 298

perseverance 103, 104, 257

perspiration 125, 151, 152, 181, 211, 216, 219, 224, 254, 264, 276, 287

perspiration

odor offensive 181

on face, eating while 152

on side lain on 151

single parts, not lain on 151 single parts, on parts lain on 151

when eating, warm food 152

Petroleum 23, 125, 127, 150, 154, 341

Phatak, Dr. S. R. 133

Phosphoric Acid 102

Phosphorus 44, 81, 146, 183, 239, 270, 342

Pic Ac 153

Piperaceae 61

Pit Vipers 92, 194

Plant kingdom 78, 80, 90, 206, 217, 233, 242, 268, 270, 290, 300

Platina 51

Platinum 89, 237, 343

Plumbum 29, 51, 89, 312, 319, 343

PNEI Axis 68

poison 140, 193, 194, 196, 199, 201, 220

Polonium 89

polychrest 104, 146

polycystic ovarian disease 108, 172, 210

Portraits of Remedies 114

Potassium 84

potency 8, 9, 12, 19, 45, 72, 120, 174, 218, 223, 233, 278, 300, 306, 328

Potentization 19

PQRS symptoms 177, 178

pressure, amel 136

Psorinum 133, 291, 342, 344

Pulsatilla 30, 31, 61, 75, 78, 79, 110, 116, 124, 155, 173, 177, 184, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 207, 210, 217, 218, 221, 222, 233, 234, 238, 267, 334, 342

pus 24, 41, 117, 291, 313

Python 98, 99

Q

quick 35

R

Radar 169

Radon 89

rage, fury touch, renewed by 199

Ranunculaceae 116, 124, 184, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 217, 233, 274

rectum Generations In Homœopathic Practice

diarrhúa
morning, rising, after 153 morning, rising, after moving about, and 153 morning, waking with urging 153 Reference Works 6, 14, 28, 51, 129, 169, 234, 272 remedy 18, 55, 75, 102, 116, 244, 298 remorse about trifles 185 renal colic 20, 21
renal failure 30, 103, 119
Repertory of Homœopathic Materia Medica 145
Reptile 92, 198 respiration aggravated in summer 142 asthmatic draft of air aggravates 181 asthmatic, air, draught of agg 127 responsibility aversion to 165
inability to realize 165 rest cannot when things are not in proper place 161
restlessness 160, 167, 190, 238, 270
restlessness
duty, as if he has not done his 190 retinopathy 109
Revolutionary 146
Rheumatoid Arthritis 218, 220, 299
Rhodium 87, 119
Rhus radicans 102, 103
Rhus toxicodendrom 101, 102, 103, 159, 160, 248, 291 rickets 82
right brain 37, 116, 175, 294 Rubidium 87
Ruthenium 87, 103, 104
S Sabadilla 26, 112, 113, 164, 342
Sac-alb 152
sadness, cannot weep 171
salt 54, 113, 146, 156, 168, 173, 190, 191, 263, 276, 305 Sanicula 151
sarr 152
Sarsaparilla 136, 341
Scandium 84, 116
scarlatina 119
Schema 17, 48, 55, 74
Schmidt, Dr. Pierre 140, 141
Schroyens, Fredrick 145 scream 108, 117, 215, 243
Sea Anemone 143
Secale cor 163
Similia

Sehgal, Dr. M. L. 163, 164
Selenium 84
Sensation
A 147
B 147
C 147
C1 147
C2 147
C3 147
Sensation in Homópathy, The 17, 48, 74, 236, 239
Sensation Method 13, 177, 206 sense of right and wrong 111, 182 sensitive cannot bear anything tight round the neck, throat or waist 199 oversensitive walking of people in room, to 199 oversensitive; touch, to 199 Sepia 93, 135, 152, 154, 159, 189, 319, 342
serum creatinine 30, 103
servile, obsequious or submissive 190
Seven Levels of Experience 94
Shah, Dr. Jayesh 27, 40, 164, 166, 167 Shah, Dr. Meghna 242, 272 shrieking, screaming, shouting, pain, with the 118
Silica 53, 54, 81, 83, 84, 127, 152, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 184, 191, 192, 207, 212, 213, 215, 234
Silicea 127, 159, 170, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 187, 206, 210, 212, 213, 214, 218, 238, 267, 312, 342
similimum 45, 46, 301 Single Remedy, The 46 skin 26, 38, 124, 126, 262
skin
discoloration
white spots 126
white, dark borders, spots, with 26 dry, inability to perspire despite exertion 124 sleep 26, 123, 155, 167, 190, 212, 216, 276
sleep
half asleep, when agg 26 half sleep evening aggravates, afternoon aggravates, before, during, falling to aggravates 26 position, abdomen, on 155 position, arms, hands head over 155 position, arms, hands head under 155 position, arms, head 155

484 sleeplessness, thoughts and activity of mind, from, the same idea is always repeated 167 snake remedy 29, 58, 196, 220
Sodium 81
Solanaceae 64, 69, 70, 79, 91, 92, 130, 142, 239, 242, 243, 283 sole 139, 198
Soul of Remedies, The 17, 48, 74, 306
Spanish Fly 37
spider 35, 116, 120
spider remedy 35, 120
Spirit 17, 48, 75, 344 Spirit of Homœopathy, The 17, 48, 344 splenectomy 112, 113, 308
Spongia 31, 34, 334
Stannum 87, 319
Staph 152, 268, 336, 337
Staphysagria 78, 190, 191, 274, 334, 342
Stinging burning, pricking, smarting, like hot needles 320 stomach
coldness ice like, after cold drinks 28
eructations, night, lying, agg 60 nausea, noise, from 31
pain, lying on abdomen amel 28
Stomach
appetite, ravenous, canine, eating, two hours after 55 stomach pain better by lying on the stomach 29
stool 135, 137, 153
stool aggravates 137
boiled milk aggravates 135
Strontium 87, 88
Study Guide 17, 48, 74, 145, 177, 236 sugarcane juice 29
aggravates 30
suicidal disposition on seeing blood or a knife she has torrid thoughts of killing herself, although she abhors the idea 83 throws himself from a height 84
Sulphur 61, 81, 84, 104, 113, 146, 152, 153, 154, 156, 159, 162, 163, 167, 183, 191, 244, 248, 249, 265, 287, 297, 298, 312, 334, 338, 341, 344
Sundew 97
suppression 45
SURVIVAL ñ the MOLLUSC 74
suspicious 52, 129, 130, 142, 202, 203, 219, 220, 224
suspicious rubric 64
suspiciousness, mistrustfulness 198 sweat 39, 119, 151, 152, 172, 181, 212, 301
sweat
on the head 149
Sweat 149, 278
symmetrical affections 126
Synthesis 17, 48, 124, 143, 145, 147, 236
Synthetic Repertory 68, 123, 145
Syphilinum 130, 140, 142, 151, 237, 257, 343 systemic lupus erythematosus 110, 278
T Tabacum 64, 69, 91, 342
talks, through him, other person, as if 213 Tamil 86
Tantalum 107, 108, 116, 174 Tarzan 117, 118 taste 140, 150
Taste bitter from anger 150 bitter vexation from 150 dulled, flat, insipid watery 140 Technetium 87, 119
telepathy 58
Tellurium 87, 164
Testimony of the Clinic, The 46
Thakar, Dr. Munjal 322, 331
Thallium 89
Therapeutic Pocket Book 124, 139, 145, 325
Theridion 31, 32, 342
thermal state 211, 216, 219, 222, 232 Thoughts, persistent, music about at night 191 threatening 35
three pillars 140 throat 27, 200
throat
choking
esophagus, swallowing 27 Throat
choking
constricting, clothing agg 200

Tilia Europa 108

timidity, appearing in public 185

Titanium 84

Tiwari, Dr. S. K. 17, 145 tongue 78, 150, 151, 200

cracks

fissures, centre 151

in the middle of the tongue 150

protruded rapidly darting in and out, like a snakeís 200 touch

agg

slight 199

sensation of being touched 200

Touch

agg

throat agg 200

TSH 95, 221, 223

Tuberculinum. 151, 273

Tyler, Margaret 114, 145

U

ulcer 28, 29, 54, 68, 139

Umbellifereae 135, 139, 170

uncommon 25, 30

unfortunate feeling 46

urethra 329

Urethra

striction 125

urinary Tract 36

urticaria 95, 97, 119

V

Vakil, Dr. Prakash 22

Valeriana 26, 313

Vanadium 84

varicose vein 84

Venus Mercenaria 108, 109

vertigo 18, 130, 136, 141, 159, 221

vertigo

high places 159

old people, in 159

walking on hard pavements 136

worse by reading 141

worse by reading long 141

video 41, 58, 62, 69, 97, 165

violence 38, 199, 243, 282, 340

violence

vehemence

touch, from 199

vehemence; deeds of, rage leading to 199

Vipera 93

Viperidae 197, 200, 201, 202, 220

vision 168, 316

vision

blurred, headache, beginning of, at 168

Vital Energy 19

Vital Force 19, 58

Vital Sensation 19, 175, 206, 309, 310

Vithoulkas, Professor George 165

vitiligo 26, 27, 125, 240

W

walk

agg, on hard pavements 136

must walk 137, 171

walking in open air ameliorates 126

walking on hard pavement aggravates 136 walks more than what is good for her 161

walking must 137

Warkentin, D 6

warmth 123, 179

ameliorates, stove, of the 180

in general aggravates 126

wart 101, 181

warts on fingers 168

weak 27, 32, 82, 111, 180, 197, 198, 221, 223, 324

Weak 238, 245, 254, 263, 287, 300, 301, 341

Wednesdays With Rajan 8

weeps, thanked, when 227

weeps, ungratefulness at 225

Weir, John 145

X

X-ray 138, 163, 164, 262, 328

Xenon 87

Y

Yttrium 87

Z

zigzag 45, 46

Zinc 159, 160, 268, 328, 334

Zincum 84, 87, 160, 341

Zirconium 87
Dr. Rajan Sankaran is a world-renowned homoeopath who has practiced and taught homoeopathy internationally for more than three decades. He began with a firm footing in traditional homoeopathy and introduced ground-breaking concepts such as delusion, kingdom, sensation, and levels. This has been an evolutionary process, described through his various publications spanning The Spirit of Homoeopathy to The Synergy in Homoeopathy.

During this progression, Sankaran discovered that the secret to success lies in an integration of the original concepts of homoeopathy - materia medica, repertory, and case-taking - with contemporary approaches. To excel in this, one needs a strong foundation in conventional homoeopathy, as well as a clear understanding of contemporary approaches.

There was a call for a textbook to take the reader through the entire evolution, as well as demonstrate step by step how various concepts are integrated in practice.

That textbook is here and now in your hands. From Similia to Synergy guides the reader through the full spectrum of homoeopathic knowledge. Sankaran demonstrates integration with actual case studies. Case-taking discourses have been transcribed and parsed to allow the reader to understand Sankaran’s thought processes. Throughout, the reader is encouraged to refer to supporting bodies of work for further research and comprehension.

This is a book that will help you produce solid and definite successful results in practice.

“I am in deep appreciation of this work, which systematically elaborates the entire evolution and developments in homoeopathy.”

From the foreword by Dr. Jayesh Shah, MD (Hom)